President Set To Name New Special Prober

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will hold his televised news conference at 7 p.m. EDT today amid growing signs he is considering naming a new special Watergate prosecutor.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren announced at a news briefing the time and format for the session postponed from Thursday because of Middle East developments. The Thursday news conference originally had been announced after Nixon cancelled a planned televised address to the nation for Wednesday night.

Warren refused to say whether Nixon planned to use the East Room news conference as a forum to announce a successor for fired Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

"I'm not going to pre-empt the President," Warren said.

Questions at the news conference appear certain to center on the Cox firing, Nixon's subsequent decision to turn the Watergate tape recordings over to a federal judge and on the now-ebbed crisis in the Middle East that prompted him to place U.S. forces worldwide on alert.

Meanwhile, Cox's lieutenants and the new head of the Watergate prosecution asked a federal court to order the FBI and other government agencies to stay away from the voluminous files developed by the

Former POW Slates Marriage

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Everett Alvarez Jr., a prisoner of war in Vietnam longer than any other American, will be married here Saturday to a former airline passenger service representative.

Alvarez said he will marry Thomasine Ilyas, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. S.T. Ilyas of nearby Munhall, in a formal military ceremony.

Some of his former POW buddies will make the arch of words for the couple to walk under after the ceremony.

UAW, Ford In Tentative Agreement

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and the United Auto Workers reached tentative agreement today on a new national contract for 185,000 workers, according to a spokesman for Ford Local 1250 in Cleveland, Ohio.

The spokesman said the agreement includes retirement after 25 years with full benefits for foundry workers.

The spokesman said he got the word from the local president, who is on the national bargaining team.

The reported agreement came in the face of a 10 a.m. EDT strike deadline.

A union source said Thursday negotiators were close to an agreement on every major point with the exception of the UAW's demand to limit forced overtime.

That apparently meant the bargainers had disposed of another issue which had been a major stumbling block earlier in the week — the union's demand for early retirement for Ford's 9,000 foundry workers.

Bargaining has been under way at Ford World Headquarters in suburban Dearborn since July 17. Both sides imposed a total news blackout earlier this week after the union set the strike deadline.

UAW President Leonard Woodcock sent telegrams to all Ford UAW locals Thursday ordering them to remain at work today if a national agreement is reached.

He said the union would then set individual strike deadlines for settlement of local issues, as it has done at Chrysler Corp.

The UAW is attempting to get Ford to agree to a settlement similar to the one it won after a nine-day strike against Chrysler last month.

The three-year pact with Chrysler includes a provision limiting overtime work to one hour a day and giving workers every Sunday and every third Saturday off.

Economic elements of that agreement include a 3 per cent wage increase each year, a full pension for workers retiring after 30 years of service, improvements in annual cost-of-living wage adjustments and creation of a company-subsidized dental plan.

U.N. To Police Cease-Fire Pact

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Nixon would consider a United Nations request to send truce observers to the Middle East but does not believe either this country or the Soviet Union should be members of the observer force.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Troops of three nations under the United Nations banner were preparing today to fly from Cyprus to the Middle East as the vanguard of a U.N. military force to police the Israeli-Arab cease-fire.

The Security Council on Thursday approved a resolution calling for formation of a new U.N. Emergency Force and specifying that, like other such peacekeeping forces, it would not include men from the United States, the Soviet Union or the other three permanent members of the council.

The U.N. action came only hours after the United States had placed its military bases around the world under a precautionary alert.

Nixon administration sources had said they feared Moscow planned to exploit the fragile Mideast truce by sending in its own peace-keeping force.

As Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim canvassed other U.N. members for men for the new force, the council authorized him to get things moving by sending to Cairo 897 men from the 3,000-man U.N. peace-keeping force stationed on Cyprus since 1964. They are from Finland, Austria and Sweden.

The council's resolution did not specify the size of the Middle East force. The similar force that maintained a picket line between Israel and Egypt from 1956 to 1967 had a peak strength of 5,977 men.

The council's resolution also authorized an increase in the force of 221 U.N. military observers that has been manning the cease-fire lines along the Golan Heights and the Suez Canal since the 1967 war.

Panama's ambassador to the United Nations said his government was ready to contribute 200 men to the new force, and the Canadian defense minister offered 900. Sweden said it was considering a U.N. request for troops.

U. S. Ambassador John A. Scali offered his government's help in transporting the force to the Middle East.

Waldheim was to report to the Security Council today on his troop-raising plans and how his effort was progressing.

The resolution passed the council 14-0, with China refusing to participate as it has on all the cease-fire votes.

The resolution renewed the council's demand for an "immediate and complete ceasefire" by the Middle East combatants and also its demand that they return to the positions they occupied at the time of the first cease-fire Monday.

U.N. observer teams that were pulled back to Cairo at the start of the war were moving into positions between Israeli and Egyptian lines on the west side of the Suez Canal.

On the Syrian front, the Israeli command said Thursday that three teams of U.N. officers from Damascus had reached Israeli forward positions in Syria and were monitoring the front from Mt. Hermon and other vantage points.

Canada, Panama and the Netherlands on Thursday offered to contribute men to the new peace-keeping force. Sweden said it was considering a U.N. request for men.

U.S. Ambassador John A. Scali told the council that the United States "will seek to be helpful in transporting" the peace-keepers to the Middle East.

The force will be a revival of a peace-keeping unit originally established after the 1956 Suez war but which was withdrawn in 1967, just before the start of the Six Day War at the demand of Egypt.

A U.N. observer force to monitor the cease-fire lines between the Arabs and Israel has been in the Middle East since the end of the first Arab-Israeli war, in 1948.

Its authorized strength has been 221 men, but 43 more observers now will be recruited from countries currently supplying the force so that 12 teams can be stationed along the Suez Canal front.

On the Middle East battlefronts Thursday, Egypt charged that Israel used tanks, planes and artillery in two attacks on the city of Suez, at the southern end of the Suez Canal.

"But our forces, supported by popular resistance groups, intercepted the attempt, destroying eight tanks and shooting down one plane," an Egyptian communique said.

Ashraf Ghorbal, one of President Anwar Sadat's chief advisers, said earlier that 15 Israeli tanks had attacked Suez and 10 were knocked out.

Ghorbal also said that Israeli troops 61 miles from Cairo had blocked U.N. truce observers trying to get to the front. His comment indirectly confirmed Israeli claims that its troops control the Cairo-to-Suez supply route and have cut off the Egyptian 3rd Army in the Sinai.

Israel denied Thursday that its forces were fighting. A military spokesman said, "There is no reason for us to violate the cease-fire. We have them surrounded. We have what we want."

Armed Forces Still On Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — American military forces remained on alert around the world today, although the crisis which precipitated their call to duty appeared over.

There was no indication how long hundreds of thousands of airmen, sailors and troops would remain prepared to move to the Mideast if needed.

Among the units alerted was the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., which has a prime mission to be sent to crisis points in time of emergency.

Nearly all of the nation's 2.2 million military men and women were alerted to some degree of combat readiness.

About 12 hours after the first troops were summoned from their beds in the predawn hours or called back to their units from leaves at home, the United Nations Security Council voted to send a peacekeeping force to the still-volatile Mideast.

The Soviet Union, the United States, and other major powers were excluded.

Reliable Nixon administration sources said that before the U.N. action they genuinely feared the Soviet Union planned to exploit the shaky Mideast truce by sending in its own peacekeeping force.

Estimates varied, but administration sources and Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said they believed at one point that about 1,000 Russian troops were en route to Egypt.

The sources said the Soviet airlift to Syria and Egypt, once involving scores of flights each day, suddenly dwindled to 20 flights on Tuesday and no flights to either country Wednesday.

While some American intelligence analysts wondered Wednesday what happened to the Soviet planes used in the Russian airlift, about a dozen transports were spotted leaving Budapest, Hungary.

The planes were departing rapidly, sources said, and American officials feared Russian troops were aboard. Those fears later turned out to be unfounded, the sources said.

At a news conference Thursday, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said U.S. officials had also detected some Soviet military units being placed on alert. Administration sources said later they were elite Russian paratroop units stationed in Eastern Europe.

Kissinger also said American officials were puzzled by ambiguous diplomatic signals the Soviet Union began sending out Wednesday afternoon, after a week of seemingly genuine efforts toward ending the Middle Eastern combat.

Officials said the apparent Russian willingness to accept a joint U.S.-Soviet peacekeeping force proposed by Egypt was the principal factor. The United States rejected the idea.

By early Thursday afternoon, the Soviet Union had agreed to the exclusion of the major powers from the peacekeeping force later approved by the Security Council.

Fulbright Raps Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he doubts the U.S. military alert Thursday was justified.

Fulbright said a note from the Soviet Union to President Nixon was couched in urgent terms but was apparently prompted by Soviet concern over an Israeli drive toward Cairo.

"From what I know it was not threatening," said the Arkansas Democrat, who attended a briefing for congressional leaders with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at the White House Thursday morning.

Fulbright suggested the alert may have been arranged to lend support to the Pentagon's military budget and to make it more difficult to override Nixon's veto of the resolution limiting use of U.S. troops in combat without congressional approval.

Campaign Financing Showdown Seen Next Week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Contributions by labor unions and spending by state party organizations loom as the central issues in next week's legislative showdown on campaign financing legislation.

House and Senate committees ground out their separate bills Thursday and leaders said they expect the proposals up for a floor vote in their respective chambers Monday.

The refusal of each house to go along with the other would clear the way for a SenateHouse conference committee to try to resolve differences. House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he is shooting for a windup of the special session Thursday.

Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan called the lawmakers into special session Oct. 23 in the wake of national political scandals he said undermined the confidence of Ohioans in their state and local governments as well.

As expected, majority Republicans in the Senate voted their bill out of the Financial Institutions, Insurance and Elections Committee and scrapped the Gilligan Administration bill introduced by Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo. The party line vote was 5-3.

It was the other way around in the House State Government Committee where majority Democrats put Republican proposals aside and okayed the governor's bill without substantial change. The vote there was 13-8.

The major difference centers on how to handle contributions from labor unions and other organizations through political action committees.

The GOP Senate version would allow them to exceed a $3,000 contribution ceiling, but require the money to be raised from members who were allowed to designate the candidate or party of their choice.

Gilligan's proposal is to allow the ceiling to be surpassed and provide further that the political action committees would have a free hand in determining how to spend the money.

Sen. Valiquette, who may have set a record in offering 26 unsuccessful Democratic amendments to the Senate panel, objected strongly to what she called a "massive loophole" in the Republican bill.

She said the bill permits "mass, statewide mailings endorsing a Republican candidate to all 970,996 Republicans who voted in the 1970 primary without the spending being accounted for as a contribution to a candidate."

Although the partisan differences are formidable, there are numerous areas of agreement which virtually assure passage of some reforms that would take effect prior to the Feb. 6 candidate filing deadline.

One significant compromise came in the House committee when Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville won 16-5 approval of an amendment that prohibits the awarding of state contracts to firms or their agents who have contributed more than $1,000 to a party or candidate in the last calendar year.

Referring to the "revelations in Maryland" that involved former Vice President Spiro Agnew, Norris said, "This is a protection for business who may get shaken down, and a protection for the officeholder who may be hard pressed to turn down a big contribution."

The areas of agreement between the Senate and House are:

—Permitting only a single finance committee for each candidate and requiring it to make full disclosures.

—Setting fixed amounts that can be spent in seeking various offices from the governor on down. Congressional candidates are already covered under federal law.

—Require candidates and committees to file reports on contributions and expenditures before, as well as after, an election.

—Limiting individual contributions to $3,000 with certain exceptions. (The Senate bill, for instance, limits contributions by persons 18 and under to $50 in a single calendar year).

—Restricting cash contributions, $100 in the Senate bill, $50 maximum in the House measure.

—Creation of an Ohio Elections Commission with the legislature or political party involved in the appointment of its members along with the governor.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices on the stock market were higher today as brokers noted some quieting of tensions in the Mideast and some healthy economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost a point in early trading with advancing issues moderately leading decliners on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Power confrontation atmosphere which seemed to have developed Thursday waned, brokers said, as the U.S. agreed to send a peacekeeping force to the Mideast. In economic news, the U.S. reported an eight year high in its September trade figures, a surplus of $73.3 million.

GROUND BREAKING — Groundbreaking ceremonies were held Wednesday for Wellman Funeral Home Chapel at 1455 N. Court St. The new chapel will be a 7,000 square foot building just north of the present facility which will remain in operation during construction. A brick colonial structure, it will seat 400 persons and will have four viewing rooms, selection room, vault room, smoking room and restrooms. At the groundbreaking were, from the left: Raymond Moats, building contractor; Donald Reams, licensed embalmer; Charles Wellman, funeral director; his wife, Mrs. Wellman; his mother, Mrs. Mabel West, who serves as receptionist for the funeral home.

Diplomatic Moves Eyed In Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe that creation of a U.N. emergency force will help reduce tensions in the Middle East and may clear the way for direct negotiations between Israel and the Arab states on a permanent settlement.

But they say the situation will remain uneasy until the troops and a companion U.N. truce supervisory team are on the job with full support to keep the peace and to check cease-fire violations.

The emergency force was set up by a 14-0 vote of the U.N. Security Council Thursday after the United States ordered a world-wide military alert and cautioned Moscow that the United States would oppose any move to send Russian troops to the Middle East.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the U.S. was not seeking a confrontation but he added firmly, "There are limits beyond which we cannot go."

The Soviet Union subsequently agreed to back establishment of the peace-keeping force proposed by a group of so-called non-aligned nations. No Russian, American, Chinese, British or French soldiers can be on it.

"We consider the vote a step in the right direction," said Robert J. McCloskey, the State Department spokesman. "Naturally, we hope that all parties will give full support to the terms of the resolution."

So far, Austria, Finland and Sweden are set to contribute troops to the force, which presumably would station itself between Israeli and Egyptian armies on both sides of the Suez Canal and between Israeli and Syrian units in the Golan Heights.

The resolution called for a return to the positions occupied Monday when the Security Council issued its first call.

Sirica Receives Award Of Merit

BOSTON (AP) — Watergate Judge John J. Sirica has been given the American Judges Association's award of merit for "judicial courage."

Sirica accepted the award Thursday night at the association's convention here. He did not mention the Watergate case in his brief speech.

"What can I say? What could anyone say that would be appropriate in these circumstances except to observe that the primary concern of our times and our time-honored adversary system is the orderly and diligent pursuit of the truth," Sirica said.

On Tuesday, President Nixon agreed to turn over tapes of White House conversations to Sirica.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Bob Hoover investigated a taxi that was found in Big Darby Creek 9:01 a.m. Thursday.

The cab was spotted in the water of Big Darby Creek along the Harrisburg-Darbyville Road, 300 yards south of Route 762.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices on the stock market were higher today as brokers noted some quieting of tensions in the Mideast and some healthy economic news.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost a point in early trading with advancing issues moderately leading decliners on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Big Power confrontation atmosphere which seemed to have developed Thursday waned, brokers said, as the U.S. agreed to send a peacekeeping force to the Mideast. In economic news, the U.S. reported an eight year high in its September trade figures, a surplus of $73.3 million.

Diplomatic Moves Eyed In Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials believe that creation of a U.N. emergency force will help reduce tensions in the Middle East and may clear the way for direct negotiations between Israel and the Arab states on a permanent settlement.

But they say the situation will remain uneasy until the troops and a companion U.N. truce supervisory team are on the job with full support to keep the peace and to check cease-fire violations.

The emergency force was set up by a 14-0 vote of the U.N. Security Council Thursday after the United States ordered a world-wide military alert and cautioned Moscow that the United States would oppose any move to send Russian troops to the Middle East.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said the U.S. was not seeking a confrontation but he added firmly, "There are limits beyond which we cannot go."

The Soviet Union subsequently agreed to back establishment of the peace-keeping force proposed by a group of so-called non-aligned nations. No Russian, American, Chinese, British or French soldiers can be on it.

"We consider the vote a step in the right direction," said Robert J. McCloskey, the State Department spokesman. "Naturally, we hope that all parties will give full support to the terms of the resolution."

So far, Austria, Finland and Sweden are set to contribute troops to the force, which presumably would station itself between Israeli and Egyptian armies on both sides of the Suez Canal and between Israeli and Syrian units in the Golan Heights.

The resolution calls for a return to the positions occupied Monday when the Security Council issued its first call for a cease-fire. Except for a plea for cooperation, the resolution does not detail either the specific duties of the emergency force or the obligations of the council members.

Meanwhile, Kissinger told a news conference he and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin have had "preliminary conversations" about the site and the procedures for direct Arab-Israeli talks.

The secretary of state also suggested that at least some Arab states have agreed that the talks should begin.

Until now, the Arab states have resisted direct negotiations with Israel. The United States has offered its "good offices" in the past but there have been no negotiations in the 25 years of Israel's existence.

"We believe that negotiations can and should begin in a matter of a very few weeks," Kissinger said.

Leaders Not Taking Sides On Mideast

NEW YORK (AP) — Although Christian leaders have voiced dismay at the new strife in the Middle East, and some have blamed aggression by Egypt and Syria, many have shunned laying the fault to either side.

They generally have confined their reaction to middle-road calls for peace and steps by the United Nations and big powers to achieve it. But their statements all say any settlement must uphold Israel's right to exist. "Indispensable to peace in the Middle East is acceptance by the entire international community of the state of Israel," declared the National Council of Churches, which includes most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

However, it pointed no finger of blame for the new hostilities, merely deploring their outbreak. That tip-toeing approach to the tangled conflict was widely characteristic among church leaders. John Cardinal Krol, of Philadelphia, president of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, said "we recognize the genuine grievances" on both sides. "We respect the legitimate desire of Israel for secure boundaries, just as we respect the legitimate desire of the Arab nations to recover the land lost in the war six years ago," he added. However, he said "recourse to violence" only worsens the problem and won't resolve it.

Some church leaders specifically blamed Arab states for starting the new conflict. The Rev. Dr. Robert C. Campbell, chief executive of the American Baptist Churches, said: "The attack on Israel by Egypt and Syria as reported by our government and the United Nations observation group was a violation of international law and a threat to the right of Israel to exist as a state."

The Rev. Charles Angell, director of the Christian Unity Center of the Catholic Graymoor Fathers, said: "When the Jews in Israel are faced with aggression and Jews everywhere are confronting terrorism, I think it is important for Christian friends not to scuttle into the woodwork."

"My concern is for all the people of the Middle East, but the cause of Arab Christians and Moslems is not served by beating war drums nor in fostering the illusion that somehow Israel will disappear from the earth."

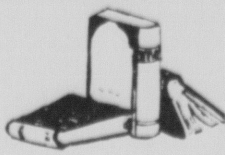

Dr. David Hyatt, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, expressed "moral outrage that the attack was launched on Yom Kippur", a Jewish holy day, and pledged support for "our Jewish brothers."

The Rev. Dr. Arnold T. Olson, president of the Evangelical Free

Church of America, said "this attack lends further credence to Israel's need for defensible borders."

The American Jewish Committee, summing up reaction, said there has been "significant supportive response to Israel" in the crisis. However, many large church organizations were noncommittal about placing blame.

In Geneva, Switzerland, the Rev. Dr. Philip Potter, head of the World Council of Churches, urged a stronger United Nations role in the area, and an end to arms deliveries by the big powers to either side.

Or after all the heaped up calories you may wish to try Marvin Small's low calorie diet. We also have some new paperbacks of "Dr. Atkin's Diet Revolution: The High Calorie Way to Stay Thin Forever."

With the Pumpkin Show out of the way, Roundtowners came in Monday in record numbers to pick up reading material. One of the new novels which arrived this week is "The Tower" by Richard Martin Stern. The new World Communication Center, ready to be dedicated, is discovered to be fatally flawed. The novel is a minute by minute account of the ensuing disaster. This one has already been sold to the movies.

Is it one of the signs of the times that biographies of criminals, gangsters, and the Mafia are so popular? "Alias Big Cherry" by Robert H. He looted or defrauded business firms of an estimated $25 million before he was imprisoned.

A Page Of Opinion

Parental Decision

Parents who use their television sets as baby sitters are losing one of the unique experiences of life: the opportunity to develop a lasting relationship with their offspring. Visual communications, either TV or movies, can be a broadening experience.

It has its limitations, however, and one is that it is no substitute for building a human relationship. Another is the quality of some of the presentations shown on either screen.

Debate is being revived once again on the effects of violence and other irrational behavior shown on the screen and viewed by young minds. Authorities differ on the effect. The 1969 report by the National Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence concluded "that violence in television programs can and does have adverse effects upon audiences."

In 1972, however, the Surgeon General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior took the opposite position. Perhaps it is fortunate no unanimous authoritative opinion is at hand. It means parents will have to decide the issue, a responsibility they should have been eager to assume in the first place.

Big Brother's Accomplice

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Rep. Barry Goldwater, Jr., who is developing some of the individualist get-up-and-go of his old man, who sits in the Senate at the other end of Capitol Hill, has struck a real blow for freedom by introducing two bills to protect people who might be harmed by the indiscriminate use of computer-based files. One bill would give people the right to know what, why and where information is being recorded about them, thus enabling an aggrieved individual to challenge the truth of anything or everything that gets into a computer bank. The other bill would prohibit the use of the Social Security account number as a standard means of quick identification.

I think Barry Goldwater the Younger is on to something that will have great popular appeal. Who hasn't had some disagreeable experience because of raw data stored somewhere, or simply because his name and address happen to have gotten on a transferable list?

Back in the Nineteen Thirties I joined a committee that was agitating for asylum for Leon Trotsky. I was a million miles from being a Trotskyite, but I believe then, as I do now, in certain fundamental civil liberties, one of them being the right to a haven against political persecution. The accusation of being a Trotskyite, even though it was false as applied to me, was quickly confused with the idea that if one took up the cudgels for any type of Communist, it automatically made one favorable to the Soviet system.

In order to establish my credibility as an anti-Communist, I had to prove to the FBI that I had remained an isolationist after Adolf Hitler attacked Russia. Then I got a job with the agency that became the Office of Strategic Services. The whole rignarole took some time, and it was all due to the fact that I had gotten into a record-keeping system for a perfectly legitimate expression of belief in the right of asylum.

The trouble with a list or a bit of information is that, once it has been stored as a retrievable item in a memory-bank, it spreads like metastasizing cancer. The older you grow, the more burdensome it is to make your daily visit to the mailbox. I must be on a thousand lists. If I weren't in the business of writing columns, I could throw all the appeals and announcements in the wastebasket. But there is no way to know whether a letter has relevance to a subject for a column without opening it, so, as a matter of conscience, I spend at least an hour a day perusing useless stuff that would never have been sent in the first place if a computer hadn't spewed forth my name and address.

Senator George McGovern is now selling his list of political contributors to various organizations. Rep. Barry

Goldwater Jr.'s first bill would make it incumbent on McGovern to let each and every contributor know where his name and address are being recorded. Only by this would McGovern be absolved of the charge of engaging in what Barry Goldwater Jr. calls "indiscriminate exchange of information from one data bank to another."

For years I made a practice of refusing to put my Social Security number on documents. I got away with it until the computer began to have more or less universal use. The time came when my lawyer said that my bank, among other institutions, would be violating the law if I refused to put my Social Security number on various papers that had nothing to do with Social Security. Barry Goldwater Jr. correctly insists that the Social Security number was designed to be used for purposes of keeping old-age, survivors and disability insurance business from becoming hopelessly snarled. It was not originally intended to permit Big Brother, and a thousand Little Brothers, to keep tab on all one's financial transactions from the cradle to the grave.

Under our traditional system of law, one is supposed to have the right to confront one's accuser. Barry Goldwater Jr. considers the computer memory-bank, whether it operates from magnetic tape, disk, drum, punch card or optically scannable paper or film, as a silent accuser that never sleeps. Bad cess to it, he says. I wish him well in his fight to save us all from technological tyranny, and hope his bills get quick consideration. Write him and make known your feelings about it.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone musings of a Pavement Plato: Boredom and loneliness are two of the greatest curses of modern civilization.

Perhaps more than half the people alive on earth today will spend the major portion of their existence being bored or lonely — or both.

This is true despite the fact that man now has 10 times more toys and geegaws to divert him from his inner woes than at any other times in history, and keeps inventing fresh forms of entertainment every year.

Somehow they fail to work. Man is not amused by himself. He finds the task of killing time pleasantly increasingly difficult and stubborn work.

Why is man so bored and lonely in this century? There may be many reasons. One, certainly, is that the spread of science has made all people realize how isolated and relatively unimportant the human species is in the endless catalogue of time and space. Man dies; his universe goes on, indifferent to his fate.

How can you tell whether you are bored? Well, there's no doubt you are bored, whether you realize it yourself or not if—

You are talking to yourself more—but enjoying it less.

You used to know the names of all the major league baseball players, but now you are not even sure of the nicknames of the teams.

Television, you think, is still nothing but a vast wasteland.

You get more critical of the quality of the paper towels in the office washroom.

It has been months since you heard a joke that wasn't an echo of a joke you heard 20 years ago.

Your old and still dear friends seem to be getting a bit stupid and tiresome lately, and you have privately decided that your employer is balmy and getting balmer by the week.

You no longer look for challenges in your work—all you want from it is few waves and a few more oats.

Reading an article such as this doesn't make you think. It just makes you annoyed.

Yep, you're bored. I'm sure of that. Which proves, perhaps, that it takes one to know one.

Collegiate Advertising

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University has turned to radio commercials as a means of boosting college education — and Kent State.

A spokesman for the school said students "Just aren't breaking down the doors to get into college" and that "colleges have been forced to advertise for students."

One commercial cites five successful KSU alumni. But the most successful one uses children's voices, says Angelo Coulis, KSU director of radio-television information.

The voices are those of a boy who wants to be a fireman and a girl who wants to be a nurse. An announcer tells them that a college education can help them achieve their goals.

Then the little girl changes her mind. "I want to be a hippopotamus," she says, trailing off with a giggle.

More than 200,000 Canadians are employed in the primary textile, knitting and clothing industries.

On this date in 1825, the Erie Canal was opened, connecting the waters of Lake Erie and the Hudson River.

On this date:

In 1760, George III was crowned king of England.

In 1774, the First Continental Congress adjourned in Philadelphia.

In 1905, Sweden recognized their independence of Norway.

In 1917, Brazil declared war against Germany.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

If you brush your hair 100 strokes a day to make it healthy, you are deluding yourself.

Despite the lustre of the head's crowning glory, hair is not alive. Rather it is as dead as rope.

It is impossible to nourish and feed hair with hormones, proteins, lemon juice and bizarre concoctions.

People cannot be positively identified by hair, contrary to popular belief.

The force applied by the overactive use of a comb can be destructive to hair.

These are but a few of the opinions arrived at by physicians, research scientists and skin specialists who met recently at a conference devoted exclusively to the subject of HAIR.

The American Medical Association sponsored the meeting in an effort to expose some of the myths and fancies about hair.

The mystique of hair, its splendor, its balding process, its social significance, and the rules for preserving it were discussed by this august body of investigators.

They definitively said that repeated washing of the hair does not contribute to baldness. It was thought that this idea had to be shattered because it was such a common misconception.

One of the committee members answered the question, "How often should the hair be shampooed?" by saying, "If you have very oily hair you may shampoo daily."

"If you have very dry hair you can go four to seven days if there is no unusual exposure to dirt. The best general rule is to wash your hair when it looks and feels dirty."

"If the hair is very oily, wear it short. It's easier to manage."

Unfortunately for those who are threatened by the male-type pattern baldness, the answer is still evasive.

Travelers to foreign countries, especially in the sub-tropical areas, are rightfully concerned about the intestinal symptoms so many people develop.

Diarrhea is undoubtedly the most frequent symptom associated with these intestinal disturbances and forms of dysentery.

Americans traveling to these countries are advised to avoid buying non-prescription, over-the-counter medicines. Many of these products contain a drug that may be harmful, and have hazardous side-effects.

The drug, iodo-chlor-hydroxy-quin, is an ingredient in dozens of patent medicines. It is to be avoided.

This is the advice of Dr. G. F. Oakley, Jr., of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Make note of this ingredient and be sure that no medicine that you buy contains it.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Dear Editor:

A recent article on the Federal Crime Commission saying most criminals should be treated as leniently as possible indicates the commission members must be soft headed and need counseling themselves.

Let one of their families be murdered or raped and I would like to know of their attitude then.

A sheriff in a small town out west, when he caught kids racing, "burning rubber", drinking while driving etc. ordered them to do odd jobs around town such as picking up paper, cleaning the cemetery and sweeping the streets.

He stated that once they had to go through the ordeal he didn't have anymore trouble.

That goes with a few of our lesser offenders, adult or not. If the commission wants to shift toward a rehabilitation program, knowing they might have to work a little may help to curb crime a little.

Each person should be treated fair and given a chance but when they start serving steaks for their meals, channel me through all of the free social services at taxpayers expense. I might become an inmate myself.

Dear Editor:

I took my wife and two small boys to the "Circleville Pumpkin Show" on October 20. We thought we were going to see a pumpkin festival. The Circleville Pumpkin Show bears as much relation to a pumpkin festival as the Mafia does to a 4-H Club. Ninety-five per cent of the "show" consisted of honky tonk rides, refreshment stands and commercial exhibitors.

The crowds were such that it was virtually impossible even to see a pumpkin. There may have been something interesting for small children to see. But we didn't feel like elbowing through the crowd to find out.

I have two suggestions:

(1) Take out all but the most essential of the honky tonk. Add more bona fide pumpkin fair exhibits. More homemade goods booths. In short, become a "Pumpkin Show." OR

(2) Keep the "Show" as is and change the name to the Circleville Circus or the Circleville Fair.

Perhaps option one would cut down on the crowds. But I would hope that Pumpkin Show officials are not caught up in the "get-a-big-crowd" mania that is common to Ohio State Fair officials. Let's sacrifice some quantity for some quality for a refreshing change.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Editor:

Two couples of us attended your city Thursday on your Pumpkin Show. It was a very nice show.

We arrived at 9 a.m. and we couldn't find a place to park near the main part of town. We finally found a spot on the street the Post Office is on near the funeral home.

A young man with white coveralls and an orange hat seemed to be guarding the alley across the street. He came over to our car and wanted us to give him $2 for parking on the street.

What I want to know, what's with him. We have been to your Pumpkin Show for several years and no one ever charged to park along the street.

It also would help for the older folks if you had more benches to rest on. Thanks for taking time to hear me.

Little Boy Killed In Freak Mishap

TROY, Ohio (AP) — A 2-year-old boy was killed and his 4-year-old sister injured Wednesday night when their untended family car rolled over them, authorities said.

Killed was Curtis Littlejohn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Littlejohn. His sister Lynn was hospitalized in fair condition.

The accident occurred when the boy's mother got out of the car to open the garage door at their rural home seven miles east of Troy. The car rolled backwards, running over the children.

A Page Of Opinion

Parental Decision

Parents who use their television sets as baby sitters are losing one of the unique experiences of life: the opportunity to develop a lasting relationship with their offspring. Visual communications, either TV or movies, can be a broadening experience.

It has its limitations, however, and one is that it is no substitute for building a human relationship. Another is the quality of some of the presentations shown on either screen.

Debate is being revived once again on the effects of violence and other irrational behavior shown on the screen and viewed by young minds. Authorities differ on the effect. The 1969 report by the National Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence concluded "that violence in television programs can and does have adverse effects upon audiences."

In 1972, however, the Surgeon General's Scientific Advisory Committee on Television and Social Behavior took the opposite position. Perhaps it is fortunate no unanimous authoritative opinion is at hand. It means parents will have to decide the issue, a responsibility they should have been eager to assume in the first place.

Big Brother's Accomplice

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Rep. Barry Goldwater, Jr., who is developing some of the individualist get-up-and-go of his old man, who sits in the Senate at the other end of Capitol Hill, has struck a real blow for freedom by introducing two bills to protect people who might be harmed by the indiscriminate use of computer-based files. One bill would give people the right to know what, why and where information is being recorded about them, thus enabling an aggrieved individual to challenge the truth of anything or everything that gets into a computer bank. The other bill would prohibit the use of the Social Security account number as a standard means of quick identification.

I think Barry Goldwater the Younger is on to something that will have great popular appeal. Who hasn't had some disagreeable experience because of raw data stored somewhere, or simply because his name and address happen to have gotten on a transferable list?

Back in the Nineteen Thirties I joined a committee that was agitating for asylum for Leon Trotsky. I was a million miles from being a Trotskyite, but I believe then, as I do now, in certain fundamental civil liberties, one of them being the right to a haven against political persecution. The accusation of being a Trotskyite, even though it was false as applied to me, was quickly confused with the idea that if one took up the cudgels for any type of Communist, whether Trotskyite or Stalinist, it automatically made one favorable to the Soviet system.

In order to establish my credibility as an anti-Communist, I had to prove to the FBI that I had remained an isolationist after Adolf Hitler attacked Russia. Then I got a job with the agency that became the Office of Strategic Services. The whole rigmarole took some time, and it was all due to the fact that I had gotten into a record-keeping system for a perfectly legitimate expression of belief in the right of asylum.

The trouble with a list or a bit of information is that, once it has been stored as a retrievable item in a memory-bank, it spreads like metastasizing cancer. The older you grow, the more burdensome it is to make your daily visit to the mailbox. I must be on a thousand lists. If I weren't in the business of writing columns, I could throw all the appeals and announcements in the wastebasket. But there is no way to know whether a letter has relevance to a subject for a column without opening it, so, as a matter of conscience, I spend at least an hour a day perusing useless stuff that would never have been sent in the first place if a computer hadn't spewed forth my name and address.

Senator George McGovern is now selling his list of political contributors to various organizations. Rep. Barry

Goldwater Jr.'s first bill would make it incumbent on McGovern to let each and every contributor know where his name and address are being recorded. Only by this would McGovern be absolved of the charge of engaging in what Barry Goldwater Jr. calls "indiscriminate exchange of information from one data bank to another."

For years I made a practice of refusing to put my Social Security number on documents. I got away with it until the computer began to have more or less universal use. The time came when my lawyer said that my bank, among other institutions, would be violating the law if I refused to put my Social Security number on various papers that had nothing to do with Social Security. Barry Goldwater Jr. correctly insists that the Social Security number was designed to be used for purposes of keeping old-age, survivors and disability insurance business from becoming hopelessly snarled. It was not originally intended to permit Big Brother, and a thousand Little Brothers, to keep tab on all one's financial transactions from the cradle to the grave.

Under our traditional system of law, one is supposed to have the right to confront one's accuser. Barry Goldwater Jr. considers the computer memory-bank, whether it operates from magnetic tape, disk, drum, punch card or optically scannable paper or film, as a silent accuser that never sleeps. Bad cess to it, he says. I wish him well in his fight to save us all from technological tyranny, and hope his bills get quick consideration. Write him and make known your feelings about it.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone musings of a Pavement Plato:

Boredom and loneliness are two of the greatest curses of modern civilization.

Perhaps more than half the people alive on earth today will spend the major portion of their existence being bored or lonely — or both.

This is true despite the fact that man now has 10 times more toys and geegaws to divert him from his inner woes than at any other times in history, and keeps inventing fresh forms of entertainment every year.

Somehow they fail to work. Man is not amused by himself. He finds the task of killing time pleasantly increasingly difficult and stubborn work.

Why is man so bored and lonely in this century? There may be many reasons. One, certainly, is that the spread of science has made all people realize how isolated and relatively unimportant the human species is in the endless catalogue of time and space. Man dies; his universe goes on, indifferent to his fate.

How can you tell whether you are bored? Well, there's no doubt you are bored, whether you realize it yourself or not —

You are talking to yourself more — but enjoying it less.

You used to know the names of all the major league baseball players, but now you are not even sure of the nicknames of the teams.

Television, you think, is still nothing but a vast wasteland.

You get more critical of the quality of the paper towels in the office washroom.

It has been months since you heard a joke that wasn't an echo of a joke you heard 20 years ago.

Your old and still dear friends seem to be getting a bit stupid and tiresome lately, and you have privately decided that your employer is barmy and getting barmier by the week.

You no longer look for challenges in your work — all you want from it is few waves and a few more oats.

Reading an article such as this doesn't make you think. It just makes you annoyed.

Yep, you're bored. I'm sure of that. Which proves, perhaps, that it takes one to know one.

Collegiate Advertising

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Kent State University has turned to radio commercials as a means of boosting college education — and Kent State.

A spokesman for the school said students "Just aren't breaking down the doors to get into college" and that "colleges have been forced to advertise for students."

One commercial cites five successful KSU alumni. But the most successful one uses children's voices, says Angelo Coulis, KSU director of radio-television information.

The voices are those of a boy who wants to be a fireman and a girl who wants to be a nurse. An announcer tells them that a college education can help them achieve their goals.

Then the little girl changes her mind. "I want to be a hippopotamus," she says, trailing off with a giggle.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

If you brush your hair 100 strokes a day to make it healthy, you are deluding yourself.

Despite the lustre of the head's crowning glory, hair is not alive. Rather it is as dead as rope.

It is impossible to nourish and feed hair with hormones, proteins, lemon juice and bizarre concoctions.

People cannot be positively identified by hair, contrary to popular belief.

The force applied by the overactive use of a comb can be destructive to hair.

These are but a few of the opinions arrived at by physicians, research scientists and skin specialists who met recently at a conference devoted exclusively to the subject of HAIR.

The American Medical Association sponsored the meeting in an effort to expose some of the myths and fancies about hair.

The mystique of hair, its splendor, its balding process, its social significance, and the rules for preserving it were discussed by this august body of investigators.

They definitely said that repeated washing of the hair does not contribute to baldness. It was thought that this idea had to be shattered because it was such a common misconception.

One of the committee members answered the question, "How often should the hair be shampooed?" by saying, "If you have very oily hair you may shampoo daily."

"If you have very dry hair you can go four to seven days if there is no unusual exposure to dirt. The best general rule is to wash your hair when it looks and feels dirty."

"If the hair is very oily, wear it short. It's easier to manage."

Unfortunately for those who are threatened by the male-type pattern baldness, the answer is still evasive.

Travelers to foreign countries, especially in the sub-tropical areas, are rightfully concerned about the intestinal symptoms so many people develop.

Diarrhea is undoubtedly the most frequent symptom associated with these intestinal disturbances and forms of dysentery.

Americans traveling to these countries are advised to avoid buying non-prescription, over-the-counter medicines. Many of these products contain a drug that may be harmful, and have hazardous side-effects.

The drug, iodo-chlor-hydroxy-quin, is an ingredient in dozens of patent medicines. It is to be avoided.

This is the advice of Dr. G. F. Oakley, Jr., of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

Make note of this ingredient and be sure that no medicine that you buy contains it.

Witnesses Tie Viet Deaths To Fatal Wisconsin Bombing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The witnesses are all for the defense. The subject is death — one here and thousands in Vietnam.

Judicial experts say there never has been a court hearing like it.

For the past two weeks, witnesses have testified in the defense of admitted bomber Karleton Armstrong and against U.S. conduct of the Indochina war.

Armstrong, 27, has pleaded guilty to arson and second-degree murder in the 1970 bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center.

The bombing, the last major act of violence in this once protest-prone community of 170,000, killed Robert Fassnacht, 33, a researcher. He was in the center when the predawn explosion rocked the campus.

Armstrong originally was charged with first-degree murder. But when he agreed to plead guilty to the lesser charge the court agreed to permit a "mitigation" hearing under which the defense could present witnesses and arguments that might shorten his sentence.

The sentencing is expected to come at the end of the hearing, or shortly thereafter.

Witnesses, including antiwar spokesmen Philip Berrigan, Pentagon papers defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, and former U. S. Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, have testified that Armstrong's act — while wrong — pales in comparison with the calculated deaths of thousands in the Vietnam war.

"One must understand the desperation of a Karleton Armstrong," Ellsberg testified via a tape-recording which was admitted in evidence.

"Irrelevant and immaterial," Assistant State Atty. Gen. Michael Zaleski contended, as he has repeatedly during defense attempts to compare the Armstrong act and the conduct of the war.

Armstrong has said that Fassnacht's death was an accidental and that he saw the explosion as a means of putting a crimp in the war effort.

The bomb was to have gone off five minutes after a telephoned warning to police about the impending explosion, Armstrong told an interviewer. Instead, the bomb went off in three minutes.

U.S. Corruption In Laos Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military equipment was bartered in Laos to build a swimming pool for the ambassador and to refurbish his residence, a former embassy official charges.

"I was personally present when large quantities of excess property were traded to private contractors for services and improvements to the ambassador's residence," Howard F. Mushett, former security chief at the embassy, told a House subcommittee Thursday.

G. McMurtrie Godley, ambassador from 1970 to 1973, called the allegations "gross exaggerations."

"My personal strong conviction is that my associates ... made no personal gain and I certainly didn't," Godley said.

Mushett also accused Godley's administrative counselor, Reed P. Robinson, with disposing of some of the equipment and pocketing the profits.

Mushett said staff meetings held by Robinson dealt mainly with how to divert military equipment to Laos and improvement of facilities for Godley.

The embassy requisitioned from Vietnam and Thailand nearly $8 million worth of surplus American military equipment ostensibly for the Lao Armed Services, Mushett said.

Much of the equipment was stolen or deteriorated in the weather after it reached Laos, he told the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on foreign operations.

As a result of bartering of other pieces of equipment, $70,000 worth of improvements were made to Godley's residence, Mushett said.

The $40,000 swimming pool and tennis courts for Godley also were financed in this manner, Mushett testified.

"I repeatedly reported these things personally to the ambassador, finally in writing," he said. "Then ... nothing was done ..."

Godley, who is scheduled to testify next Thursday, said the swimming pool was built for less than $15,000. He contended the improvements were needed on the residence.

Also scheduled to testify next week are investigators for the General Accounting Office and the Agency for International Development, who are looking into the requisitioning by the embassy.

Witnesses Tie Viet Deaths To Fatal Wisconsin Bombing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The witnesses are all for the defense. The subject is death — one here and thousands in Vietnam.

Judicial experts say there never has been a court hearing like it.

For the past two weeks, witnesses have testified in the defense of admitted bomber Karleton Armstrong and against U.S. conduct of the Indochina war.

Armstrong, 27, has pleaded guilty to arson and second-degree murder in the 1970 bombing of the Army Mathematics Research Center.

The bombing, the last major act of violence in this once protest-prone community of 170,000, killed Robert Fassnacht, 33, a researcher. He was in the center when the pre-dawn explosion rocked the campus.

Armstrong originally was charged with first-degree murder. But when he agreed to plead guilty to the lesser charge the court agreed to permit a "mitigation" hearing under which the defense could present witnesses and arguments that might shorten his sentence.

The sentencing is expected to come at the end of the hearing, or shortly thereafter.

Witnesses, including antiwar spokesmen Philip Berrigan, Pentagon papers defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony J. Russo, and former U. S. Sen. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, have testified that Armstrong's act — while wrong — pales in comparison with the calculated deaths of thousands in the Vietnam war.

"One must understand the desperation of a Karleton Armstrong," Ellsberg testified via a tape-recording which was admitted in evidence.

"Irrelevant and immaterial," Assistant State Atty. Gen. Michael Zaleski contended, as he has repeatedly during defense attempts to compare the Armstrong act and the conduct of the war.

Armstrong has said that Fassnacht's death was an accidental and that he saw the explosion as a means of putting a crimp in the war effort.

The bomb was to have gone off five minutes after a telephoned warning to police about the impending explosion, Armstrong told an interviewer. Instead, the bomb went off in three minutes.

MR. AND MRS. FERNANDO JAMES TAMBLIN

Miss Vanessa Joy Hatfield Bride Of Fernando J. Tamblin

Miss Vanessa Joy Hatfield became the bride of Fernando James Tamblin in a double ring ceremony performed in the home of the bridegroom's parents on Sept. 1st in San Antonio, Texas. A Justice of the Peace officiated at the 2:30 p.m. civil affair. Words of the vows exchanged were of original composition by the couple.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy R. Hatfield, 1339 S. Pickaway St., Circleville, Ohio. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Joseph C. Carrisal, 617 Bynum St., San Antonio, Texas, and Sgt. Ronald Tamblin of the Air Force, San Antonio, Texas.

The bride was escorted and given in marriage by her mother. For her wedding she selected a formal length Juliet styled gown of white silk organza and lace with an A-line skirt. The bodice featured a wedding band collar with lace edging and a fitted waist with lace inset panels enhanced by tiny pearl buttons from collar to waistline. The sleeves, gathered and full at the shoulder, were of re-embroidered lace to wrist length. Her fingertip length mantilla of illusion and French lace was designed and made by the bride's mother. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift from her maid of honor.

The bride carried a bouquet of red rosebuds, lily of the valley and baby's breath, inset with lace and entwined with white and red satin ribbon and red and white satin streamers ending in lover's knots.

Miss Terri Mae Rhyen served her friend as maid of honor. She was gowned in a pale blue skirt with a flowered bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline and angel cut sleeves. The skirt was trimmed with a matching flowered ruffle. She carried a single, long stemmed, red rose with red and white satin streamers.

Mr. Roger Tamblin served his brother as best man.

Both mothers wore street length dresses and matching corsages of white rosebuds accented by white satin picot ribbon and illusion net.

The home of the bridegroom's mother was decorated throughout with floral arrangements for a reception and dinner following the ceremony. The traditional wedding cake, decorated with white icing roses, satin ribbon regal lilies, lily of the valley, and silver dragees was topped by bride and groom figurines in an archway of lace filagree with wedding bells.

Guests toasted the couple in wedding punch served by aunts of the groom from a lace covered table flanked by floral arrangements. Guests were from: San Antonio, Texas; Ohio, Oklahoma, Indiana and New York. The bride graduated from Circleville High School in 1972, attended Capital University and is now employed by Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Austin, Texas.

The bridegroom graduated from Samuel Clemens High School in San Antonio, Texas in 1969 and is currently in bilingual studies at the University of Texas at Austin.

Following a wedding trip the couple resides at 5010 Westgate, Apt. 104, Austin, Texas, 78745.

Dr. Nancy Conrad Speaker For Pickaway Nurses Assn.

Nancy Martin, Judy Good and Wanda Fosnaugh were hostesses for the Monday evening meeting of Pickaway County Registered Nurses Assn. at Pickaway Manor.

Marilyn Reichelderfer, vice president, presided over the business meeting. Wanda Fosnaugh introduced Dr. Nancy Conrad who spoke on "Podiatry."

Dr. Conrad said that podiatry is classified along with dentistry and doctors of medicine in the fact that it takes four years after obtaining a college degree to earn a degree in podiatry.

There is an increasing number of podiatrists concentrating on surgery and orthopedics. She said that concrete sidewalks are very hard on the feet, therefore good shoes should be worn. She pointed out that Indians wearing moccasins walked on concrete and began having foot trouble. She pointed out that tennis shoes or canvas shoes are not good for the feet. If children's feet get cold the blood vessels age as in older people. She also said that it was not good to walk around the house without shoes.

If children do have foot trouble they should be brought to a doctor before they become four years old if they hope to be corrected.

People are now going to a podiatrist for preventive treatment the same as they see a dentist. A good podiatrist knows when to treat and when not to.

Some of Dr. Conrad's pet peeves are: sprained ankles in athletes, too tight bed sheets over toes in hospitals and nursing homes and when people are convalescing wearing house slippers instead of good shoes.

Ingrown toenails are often caused by too short socks, stretch socks or sleepers in children. Fungus is caused by tennis shoes or heavy socks that allow the feet to stay damp.

It is very important that proper shoes are worn especially for work. Platform soles are causing ankle sprains and fractures. Men are getting pump syndromes from wearing shoes with pointed toes and higher heels.

She listed the following for general foot care: 1. Bathe feet daily using mild soap, rinse well and dry well but don't rub harshly. 2. Use foot powder daily. 3. Trim nails straight across. 4. Wear hose that are one-half inch longer than feet. 5. Wear properly fitted oxford for every day use.

6. Have corns, callouses, ingrown nails and other abnormalities treated professionally to avoid infection. 7. Proper food, rest and regular exercise increases one's potential for healthy

Middlemen Get More For Food

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in many months consumers can point accusing fingers to somebody other than farmers when they complain about food prices, new Agriculture Department figures show.

A marketbasket of U.S. farm-produced food, theoretically a year's supply for a typical household, cost $1,629 at retail stores in September, the department said Thursday.

That was down $24 from the annual rate in August, the first dip in a year and the biggest one-month decline since August 1956.

The farmer's share of the marketbasket dropped $95 during the month. But middlemen who process and sell food did not pass along most of the decline to consumers.

As a result, the margin between what farmers get for raw products and the cost of food to consumers increased $71 from August to September. Farmers would up in September with $744 as their share of the marketbasket value, while middlemen got $885, officials said.

Put another way, the retail cost of the annual marketbasket declined 1.5 per cent during the month; the farm value dropped 11.3 per cent; and the middleman market rose 8.5 per cent.

"Increases in marketing spreads were especially sharp for beef, pork, eggs, bakery and cereal products, and fats and oil products," the department said.

Eskimos Fight For Survival

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Living in one of the harshest regions of the world, the Eskimo fights for survival.

Originally a hunting people, modern civilization has killed off the once great numbers of bowhead whales, musk oxen, walrus and caribou upon which the Eskimos depended for food, clothing and shelter. Even many of the Eskimo's once-valued sled dogs have been traded in for a snowmobile.

For a brief period, the proud and resourceful Eskimos found work as laborers on radar sites on the Distant Early Warning (DEW) Line stations. But these jobs, too, have ended.

With plentiful game populations a distant memory and modern jobs lacking, the Eskimo today is lost in a limbo between the past and present. Sociologists ask whether the Eskimo can survive this cultural and physical uprooting. Only time can tell.

Say College Aid Not Adequate

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Citing lack of state support, University of Cincinnati President Warren Bennis Thursday said that present financial aid "is simply not adequate."

Bennis, speaking before an all-university faculty meeting, said Ohio has dropped to last among the nation's 50 states aiding colleges.

He said the present state subsidy "does not allow us to serve the educational needs of the state which we are expected to serve."

He also said that UC, presently in the fourth week of its fall quarter, has not been officially informed how much it will receive in state funds for the 1973-74 school year.

Air Pollution Fight 'Worth Winning'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Warning that the fight against air pollution will be a long one, Gov. John Gilligan called on the Tri-State Air Committee Thursday to work to win a struggle "worth winning."

The governor said the 15-month-old Ohio Environmental Protection Agency has taken forceful and beneficial steps, but faces some difficult hurdles.

He said that the legislature, which created the Ohio EPA, cut its funding in half for the coming six months.

Mayoralty Race Still Up In Air

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland voters were watching today what appeared to be the next-to-last chapter in the city's nonpartisan election — already fraught with as many surprises as party labels.

An 8th Ohio District Court of Appeals judge was expected to rule soon on today's hearing of two suits contesting a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge's decision to let the Democratic party leadership select a substitute for James Carney, who resigned from the race two weeks ago.

Roberta Scherr of the Socialist Workers party, who ran third in the also nonpartisan primary Oct. 2, contends her name should succeed Carney's on the Nov. 6 ballot.

And the city of Cleveland, in a companion appeal, contends Carney's name should stay despite his resignation.

The appeals court decision appeared certain to be a final twist to an already bewildering chain of events triggered by the Carney resignation.

Not the least of the mysteries was the Carney resignation itself. He left the race with a surprise announcement, citing personal reasons and declining to elaborate. The announcement came only a few days after he qualified for the general election by running second to incumbent Mayor Ralph J. Perk, a Republican.

Because the election was officially nonpartisan—no party affiliations appeared on the ballot—the county Board of Elections first ruled that the party could not pick a successor to Carney.

School Strikes Remain Unsettled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Representatives of the Buckeye District school board and striking teachers have conducted prolonged negotiations over the last two days in an effort to end the strike which has continued for nearly two weeks in that Ashtabula County district.

There was no report of progress from the latest negotiating session, which continued into the night Thursday night.

Meanwhile, another teacher strike continues in Vinton County. A hearing is set for Monday on a court order to get the teachers back in the schools.

That strike started Sept. 21 and is the longest school strike in the state's history.

That left Perk's name alone on the ballot and apparently assured his reelection. Although the Democratic party later nominated Council Clerk Mercedes Cotner as its official write-in candidate, party leaders conceded privately they entertained no hope of victory.

Common Pleas Court Judge George McMonagle turned that upside-down this week by ruling that Democratic leaders could select a successor to Carney. And a panel of Democrats quickly placed Mrs. Cotner's name on the ballot.

The appeals followed. And the Board of Elections armed its workers with three sets of ballot stickers—carrying the names of Mrs. Cotner, Ms. Scherr, who uses the title by her preference, and Carney—pending the court's decision.

Ms. Scherr, who collected less than 2 per cent of the primary vote, had pursued her candidacy on the write-in side even before Carney's resignation. She was optimistic about the outcome.

"We expected to have trouble," she said. "You can be sure if the third runnerup had been a Republican or a Democrat they'd be on the ballot."

Law Director Herbert Whiting promised before the hearing today that he would be satisfied with any decision.

"We're happy if Mercedes is on the ballot. We're happy if Roberta is on the ballot. We'll be happy if Mr. Carney is on the ballot. We just want a final determination before the election. Not after," he said.

Gilligan Says He'll Veto No-Fault Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan reiterated Thursday his pledge to veto any no-fault auto insurance bill which would increase the costs of premiums for motorists.

He said results of a recent independent study support his earlier stand that the no-fault bill passed by the Ohio House would substantially increase premium costs.

Gilligan said the study showed that insurance rates would rise by as much as 8 per cent as a result of the House-passed measure.

This is because, he said, the House Insurance Committee reduced the threshold, or the minimum amount for which a party could sue, from $1,000 to $250.

Gilligan said the lower threshold would not prevent enough law suits to bring about premium savings.

The Senate Insurance Committee is not expected to begin hearings on the no-fault bill until the current special session of the legislature is over.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

The rising temperature trend that has highlighted Ohio's weather for the past few days came to an end Thursday evening as a cold front moved across the state. Another weather system following the front is expected to bring fair weather today and tonight.

A few sprinkles dotted the northern counties Thursday night but for the most part it was a dry cold front. Skies were clear over much of the state during the night and early Friday temperatures ranged from 39 at Toledo to 54 at Mansfield.

On the morning weather map the front extended from eastern Lake Erie through West Virginia and Kentucky to Tennessee and it will move eastward off the Mid Atlantic Coast tonight. The weak high pressure system following is the one expected to bring fair weather.

Another cold front system extending from the Dakotas to Colorado Friday morning is expected to move eastward today and tonight and by Saturday morning extend from the Great Lakes to the lower Mississippi Valley. Moisture spreading northward from the Gulf is expected to have a chance of showers over central and southern Ohio as this front moves over the state Saturday.

Mayoralty Race Still Up In Air

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland voters were watching today what appeared to be the next-to-last chapter in the city's nonpartisan election — already fraught with as many surprises as party labels.

An 8th Ohio District Court of Appeals judge was expected to rule soon on today's hearing of two suits contesting a Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court judge's decision to let the Democratic party leadership select a substitute for James Carney, who resigned from the race two weeks ago.

Roberta Scherr of the Socialist Workers party, who ran third in the also nonpartisan primary Oct. 2, contends her name should succeed Carney's on the Nov. 6 ballot.

And the city of Cleveland, in a companion appeal, contends Carney's name should stay despite his resignation.

The appeals court decision appeared certain to be a final twist to an already bewildering chain of events triggered by the Carney resignation.

Not the least of the mysteries was the Carney resignation itself. He left the race with a surprise announcement, citing personal reasons and declining to elaborate. The announcement came only a few days after he qualified for the general election by running second to incumbent Mayor Ralph J. Perk, a Republican.

Because the election was officially nonpartisan—no party affiliations appeared on the ballot the county Board of Elections first ruled that the party could not pick a successor to Carney.

School Strikes Remain Unsettled

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Representatives of the Buckeye District school board and striking teachers have conducted prolonged negotiations over the last two days in an effort to end the strike which has continued for nearly two weeks in that Ashtabula County district.

There was no report of progress from the latest negotiating session, which continued into the night Thursday night.

Meanwhile, another teacher strike continues in Vinton County. A hearing is set for Monday on a court order to get the teachers back in the schools.

That strike started Sept. 21 and is the longest school strike in the state's history.

That left Perk's name alone on the ballot and apparently assured his reelection. Although the Democratic party later nominated Council Clerk Mercedes Cotner as its official write-in candidate, party leaders conceded privately they entertained no hope of victory.

Common Pleas Court Judge George McMonagle turned that upside-down this week by ruling that Democratic leaders could select a successor to Carney. And a panel of Democrats quickly placed Mrs. Cotner's name on the ballot.

The appeals followed. And the Board of Elections armed its workers with three sets of ballot stickers—carrying the names of Mrs. Cotner, Ms. Scherr, who uses the title by her preference, and Carney—pending the court's decision.

Ms. Scherr, who collected less than 2 per cent of the primary vote, had pursued her candidacy on the write-in side even before Carney's resignation. She was optimistic about the outcome.

"We expected to have trouble," she said. "You can be sure if the third runnerup had been a Republican or a Democrat they'd be on the ballot."

Law Director Herbert Whiting promised before the hearing today that he would be satisfied with any decision.

"We're happy if Mercedes is on the ballot. We're happy if Roberta is on the ballot. We'll be happy if Mr. Carney is on the ballot. We just want a final determination before the election. Not after," he said.

Gilligan Says He'll Veto No-Fault Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan reiterated Thursday his pledge to veto any no-fault auto insurance bill which would increase the costs of premiums for motorists.

He said results of a recent independent study support his earlier stand that the no-fault bill passed by the Ohio House would substantially increase premium costs.

Gilligan said the study showed that insurance rates would rise by as much as 8 per cent as a result of the House-passed measure.

This is because, he said, the House Insurance Committee reduced the threshold, or the minimum amount for which a party could sue, from $1,000 to $250.

Gilligan said the lower threshold would not prevent enough law suits to bring about premium savings.

The Senate Insurance Committee is not expected to begin hearings on the no-fault bill until the current special session of the legislature is over.

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

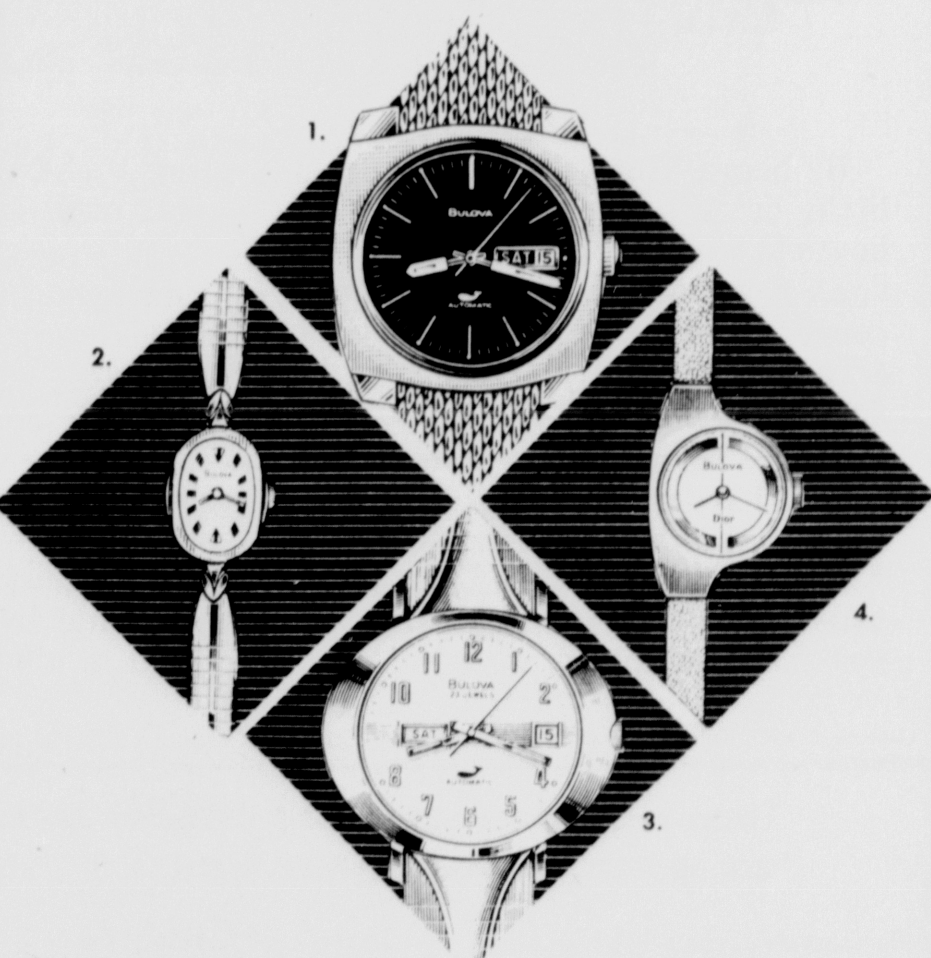

The rising temperature trend that has highlighted Ohio's weather for the past few days came to an end Thursday evening as a cold front moved across the state. Another weather system following the front is expected to bring fair weather today and tonight.

A few sprinkles dotted the northern counties Thursday night but for the most part it was a dry cold front. Skies were clear over much of the state during the night and early Friday temperatures ranged from 39 at Toledo to 54 at Mansfield.

On the morning weather map the front extended from eastern Lake Erie through West Virginia and Kentucky to Tennessee and it will move eastward off the Mid Atlantic Coast tonight. The weak high pressure system following is the one expected to bring fair weather.

Another cold front system extending from the Dakotas to Colorado Friday morning is expected to move eastward today and tonight and by Saturday morning extend from the Great Lakes to the lower Mississippi Valley. Moisture spreading northward from the Gulf is expected to have a chance of showers over central and southern Ohio as this front moves over the state Saturday.

NEEDLE and DREAD

Be brave, Ronnie! It will hurt a little, but it's worth it. No matter how old we are, life requires courage. And we show our greatest courage when we are terribly afraid but fight on through the fear.

Moral courage is sometimes much harder than the physical kind, but whenever we stand up for what our God-given conscience tells us is right, regardless of sneering opposition, we win a shining victory . . . and we keep our self-respect.

ing victory . . . and we keep our self-respect.

It is never too late to start living courageously. If you are facing a life situation that is draining your courage, why not pray about it in church tomorrow? The Christian Gospels assure us, without a shadow of a doubt, that strength will be given us whenever we need it and as much as we need. Remember that life is not a lonely battle. God is always with you.

Chronology Of Crisis Unfolded

WASHINGTON (AP) — From his bedroom in the middle of the night, President Nixon ordered the word flashed to U.S. military units around the world: Go to DefCon-3.

With its cryptic militaryese, the message placed the armed forces on alert early Thursday, flexing America's muscle in global politics where miscalculation carries the danger of thermonuclear destruction.

Presidential aides say Nixon ordered the nation's armed forces to "Defense Condition Three" — a general military alert — after receiving "solid, substantial evidence" that the Soviet Union was considering introducing troops in the Middle East.

From administration officials, as well as other official and unofficial sources, comes a diary of the crisis:

It began late in an autumn afternoon when Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin arrived at Henry A. Kissinger's seventh-floor suite at the State Department.

The ambassador stayed for more than an hour. Precisely what he discussed with the secretary of state is unknown, but he apparently relayed word that the Kremlin strongly supported an Egyptian appeal that the Soviet Union and United States send troops to the Middle East to supervise the cease-fire agreement they had insisted.

The United States opposed the idea. Dobrynin left, but a few hours later his limousine was spotted in the State Department's basement parking garage. It was being used by a lower-level Soviet embassy official to deliver a formal message from Moscow.

Contents of the message, addressed to the President, but handed to Kissinger, haven't been officially released.

The message from Moscow thickened the air of crisis.

Kissinger made another telephone call to the President, placed a call to Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz, summoned his top advisers and sent cables to key embassies in the troubled area.

About six hours after Dobrynin strode into his office, Kissinger left the State Department and headed for the White House.

At his news conference Thursday,

this past weekend with Jack Brinker at the University of South Carolina at Columbia, S.C. While there they attended the Ohio University-South Carolina football game and homecoming festivities at the University.

Kissinger said the President "at a special meeting of the National Security Council last night, at 3 a.m.," ordered that "certain pre-cautionary measures" be taken.

Sources said that during a four-hour period beginning about 10 p.m., there were meetings in the White House West Wing between Kissinger and officials of the State and Defense departments and CIA.

Kissinger was in constant telephone contact with Nixon. Finally, after he and other senior officials had unanimously agreed to recommend action, he again telephoned the President.

According to sources, Nixon had by then retired to his bedroom and from there the President gave the order for the alert.

The word was quickly dispatched to the National Military Command Center. From there it flashed to units at home and abroad.

DefCon-3 did not put the military on a war footing. It primarily meant leaves were canceled, men were ordered to return to their units and preparations were made to move them out if necessary.

Kroger Reports Sales, Earnings Rise In Quarter

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Kroger Co. Thursday announced third quarter sales of $1.2 billion and net earnings of $6.6 million despite "strong adverse pressures."

The figures represented gains over the same period in 1972, even though the company has reduced its number of stores by 88.

Sales totaled $90 million more than in the third quarter of 1972, an increase of 7.7 per cent. Net earnings were 50 cents per share, compared to a loss of $3.6 million or 27 cents per share in 1972.

The company's third-quarter problems including government economic controls and food shortages were countered by "more efficient and effective operations," the company reported.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Liverpool Girl

WEIRTON, W.Va. (AP) — Injuries suffered in an auto accident caused the death Thursday of Elizabeth Ann Smith, 18, of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Miss Smith, who died in Weirton General Hospital, was injured in a one-car accident Wednesday night on W.Va. 8 in Hancock County.

It did have some dramatic aspects. In Florida, highway patrolmen were told not to halt cars speeding airmen from their residences to Homestead Air Force Base.

Across the Atlantic, the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy was instructed to steam into the Mediterranean.

As the military responded to the alert, a weary Kissinger managed to get a few hours sleep.

Nixon was up earlier than usual, arriving at his Oval Office before dawn. There, over coffee, he conferred with Kissinger before going to the Cabinet Room where congressional leaders had gathered for a briefing.

Seventy minutes later, the grim-faced congressmen left. Newsmen — many of them awakened at 5 a.m. — were waiting to fire a volley of questions.

It was, House Speaker Carl Albert responded, "only a precautionary alert ... the emphasis is on diplomacy at this time."

As Nixon and Kissinger returned to the Oval Office to review the messages from Moscow and other capitals, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren was told to stress to reporters that the alert was merely precautionary. It was decided Kissinger should go through with a news conference that had been scheduled before the crisis flared. And it was decided that Nixon should make a public appearance.

Four hours later, just as Nixon sought, the United Nations Security Council voted unanimously to dispatch a peacekeeping force to the Mideast — minus any forces from the Soviet Union or United States.

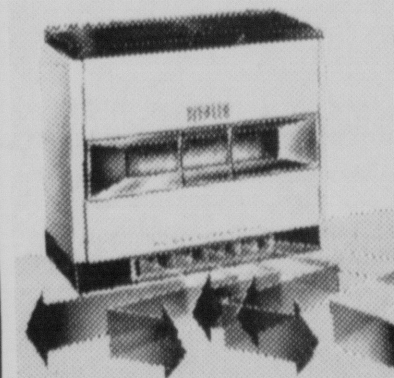

The President and his Secretary of State could relax a bit.

Almost precisely 24 hours after the Soviet ambassador had arrived at the State Department, Nixon and Kissinger stepped from the Oval Office onto the South Lawn.

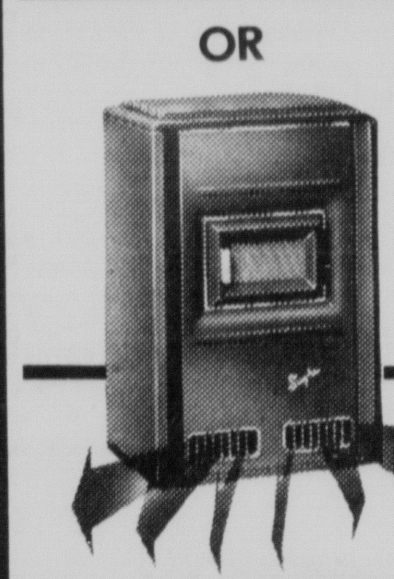

There, as the afternoon sun slanted through towering trees turned orange and gold with autumn, they walked in quiet conversation about the day they moved almost to the brink and back.

Chronology Of Crisis Unfolded

WASHINGTON (AP) — From his bedroom in the middle of the night, President Nixon ordered the word flashed to U.S. military units around the world: Go to DefCon-3.

With its cryptic militaryese, the message placed the armed forces on alert early Thursday, flexing America's muscle in global politics where miscalculation carries the danger of thermonuclear destruction.

Presidential aides say Nixon ordered the nation's armed forces to "Defense Condition Three" — a general military alert — after receiving "solid, substantial evidence" that the Soviet Union was considering introducing troops in the Middle East.

From administration officials, as well as other official and unofficial sources, comes a diary of the crisis:

It began late in an autumn afternoon when Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin arrived at Henry A. Kissinger's seventh-floor suite at the State Department.

The ambassador stayed for more than an hour. Precisely what he discussed with the secretary of state is unknown, but he apparently relayed word that the Kremlin strongly supported an Egyptian appeal that the Soviet Union and United States send troops to the Middle East to supervise the cease-fire agreement they had inspired.

The United States opposed the idea. Dobrynin left, but a few hours later his limousine was spotted in the State Department's basement parking garage. It was being used by a lower-level Soviet embassy official to deliver a formal message from Moscow.

Contents of the message, addressed to the President, but handed to Kissinger, haven't been officially released.

The message from Moscow thickened the air of crisis.

Kissinger made another telephone call to the President, placed a call to Israeli Ambassador Simcha Dinitz, summoned his top advisers and sent cables to key embassies in the troubled area.

About six hours after Dobrynin strode into his office, Kissinger left the State Department and headed for the White House.

At his news conference Thursday,

this past weekend with Jack Brinker at the University of South Carolina at Columbia, S.C. While there they attended the Ohio University-South Carolina football game and homecoming festivities at the University.

Kissinger said the President "at a special meeting of the National Security Council last night, at 3 a.m.," ordered that "certain pre-cautionary measures" be taken.

Sources said that during a four-hour period beginning about 10 p.m., there were meetings in the White House West Wing between Kissinger and officials of the State and Defense departments and CIA.

Kissinger was in constant telephone contact with Nixon. Finally, after he and other senior officials had unanimously agreed to recommend action, he again telephoned the President.

According to sources, Nixon had by then retired to his bedroom and from there the President gave the order for the alert.

The word was quickly dispatched to the National Military Command Center. From there it flashed to units at home and abroad.

DefCon-3 did not put the military on a war footing. It primarily meant leaves were canceled, men were ordered to return to their units and preparations were made to move them out if necessary.

Kroger Reports Sales, Earnings Rise In Quarter

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Kroger Co. Thursday announced third quarter sales of $1.2 billion and net earnings of $6.6 million despite "strong adverse pressures."

The figures represented gains over the same period in 1972, even though the company has reduced its number of stores by 88.

Sales totaled $90 million more than in the third quarter of 1972, an increase of 7.7 per cent. Net earnings were 50 cents per share, compared to a loss of $3.6 million or 27 cents per share in 1972.

The company's third-quarter problems including government economic controls and food shortages were countered by "more efficient and effective operations," the company reported.

Injuries Prove Fatal To Liverpool Girl

WEIRTON, W.Va. (AP) — Injuries suffered in an auto accident caused the death Thursday of Elizabeth Ann Smith, 18, of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Miss Smith, who died in Weirton General Hospital, was injured in a one-car accident Wednesday night on W.Va. 8 in Hancock County.

It did have some dramatic aspects. In Florida, highway patrolmen were told not to halt cars speeding airmen from their residences to Homestead Air Force Base.

Across the Atlantic, the aircraft carrier John F. Kennedy was instructed to steam into the Mediterranean.

As the military responded to the alert, a weary Kissinger managed to get a few hours sleep.

Nixon was up earlier than usual, arriving at his Oval Office before dawn. There, over coffee, he conferred with Kissinger before going to the Cabinet Room where congressional leaders had gathered for a briefing.

Seventy minutes later, the grim-faced congressmen left. Newsmen — many of them awakened at 5 a.m. — were waiting to fire a volley of questions.

It was, House Speaker Carl Albert responded, "only a precautionary alert ... the emphasis is on diplomacy at this time."

As Nixon and Kissinger returned to the Oval Office to review the messages from Moscow and other capitals, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren was told to stress to reporters that the alert was merely precautionary. It was decided Kissinger should go through with a news conference that had been scheduled before the crisis flared. And it was decided that Nixon should make a public appearance.

Four hours later, just as Nixon sought, the United Nations Security Council voted unanimously to dispatch a peacekeeping force to the Mideast — minus any forces from the Soviet Union or United States.

The President and his Secretary of State could relax a bit.

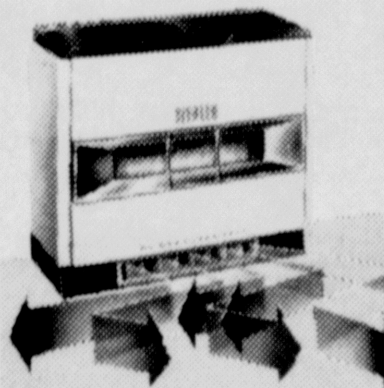

Almost precisely 24 hours after the Soviet ambassador had arrived at the State Department, Nixon and Kissinger stepped from the Oval Office onto the South Lawn.

There, as the afternoon sun slanted through towering trees turned orange and gold with autumn, they walked in quiet conversation about the day they moved almost to the brink and back.

Dr. Walter Bingham, the first black to serve as moderator, will preside. He is ending a two-year term.

Neighbors Aid Amish In Tragedy

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Ashland County residents have raised $9,000 so far to help defray hospital expenses for two Amish children who were hurt when a car smashed their buggy two months ago on Ohio 96 west of Ashland.

Mrs. Paul Hershberger, 20, was killed in the crash. The State Highway Patrol said the horse was killed, and wreckage of the buggy was strewn over a 200-foot area.

Mrs. Hershberger's brother, Harley Yoder, 10, and sister, Rosie Yoder, 13, have been in Mansfield General Hospital since the accident. Hospital officials said the costs totaled nearly $15,000 the first month, when the two were in intensive care section, and the total now has passed $20,000.

Harley suffered head and leg injuries and has been in surgery twice. He was in a coma for several weeks but now can sit up in his hospital bed.

Rosie suffered extensive back and leg injuries, has had three operations and will need more surgery, according to Dr. Lawrence Gibson, who is in charge of the children's care.

The children's father, Harley Yoder, says he is overwhelmed by the generosity of his neighbors.

"I could say my feelings good in German," said Yoder, "but it is hard to find the words in English."

Yoder has 11 other sons and daughters.

Leading the fund-raising effort is Mrs. Bruce Bigham, who said she had bought bread from Mrs. Hershberger for several years.

"I bought homemade bread from her at least every other week, and we got to be great friends," said Mrs. Bigham. "She was always bright and cheerful, and it was wonderful to see her in the last months with that happy baby on her hip."

Mrs. Hershberger's 10-month old daughter, Laura, escaped with minor injuries in the accident.

Mrs. Bigham said she started the fund after learning that because of their religious beliefs the Yoders would not apply for any sort of public welfare and would not sue in court for damages. Neither the Yoders nor the driver of the car were insured.

The contributions have ranged from $500 from one church to $1 and $2 contributions from children.

"There have been a growing number of 'Amish children benefits' in the area," she said. "There are car washes and bake sales and rummage sales and canister collections."

One woman sent $35 she got "when she sold her handmade afghan that took first place in the Ashland County Fair," Mrs. Bigham said.

Ohioans Dissent On Debt Ceiling Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohioans were among the dissenters Thursday when the House Ways and Means Committee voted 19-5 to hike the public debt ceiling to $478 billion through June 30, 1974.

Reps. Charles A. Vanik, a Democrat, and Donald Clancy, a Republican, were among the five committee members voting "no."

The current debt limit is $465 billion, but it will drop automatically to $400 billion Nov. 30 unless Congress acts. The actual debt is expected to be around $467 by then.

Ohioans Dissent On Debt Ceiling Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Ohioans were among the dissenters Thursday when the House Ways and Means Committee voted 19-5 to hike the public debt ceiling to $478 billion through June 30, 1974.

Reps. Charles A. Vanik, a Democrat, and Donald Clancy, a Republican, were among the five committee members voting "no."

The current debt limit is $465 billion, but it will drop automatically to $400 billion Nov. 30 unless Congress acts. The actual debt is expected to be around $467 by then.

Willie's Dillies

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Pride will be on the line tonight when the Circleville Tigers meet the Blue Lions of Washington C.H. head-on in Roundtown.

The battle will come as the Lions attempt to prove that they are No. 1 in the state and the Tigers will attempt to disprove it.

Pride is defined in the dictionary as having lofty self-respect.

But pride goes a lot farther than that and is a lot of little things that crop up along the road of life such as:

Getting back up, brushing yourself off and getting back into the fight. . . Raising a D in arithmetic to a C. . . Getting tears in your eyes when the flag goes by. . . Having fruit in the house even when nobody's sick. . . Walking with your head high even when you lose. . . The look in Mom's eyes when you eat all your spinach. . . Letting your buddy win at checkers. . . Singing off key but louder than anyone else when they play the Star Spangled Banner. . . Knowing you've done a good job even if the boss doesn't. . . Not spotting your tie when you're eatin' soup.

It's going into the game believing you're better than the other guy and proving it. . . Not pinching your girl's straw when you're sharing a soda. . . Respecting your parents. . . Your first pay check. . . Having the homeliest dog in the show but not knowing it. . . Smiling even when it's raining. . . Being a modest hero. . . Treating other people the way you'd like to be treated yourself. . . Spending your last dollar on someone else.

It's refusing to quit when the going gets tough. . . Never sacrificing principles. . . Believing in God and Country. . . Not dealing from the bottom of the deck in a card game. . . Knowing that you wouldn't trade the girl you married for anyone else in the world.

But most of all — It's getting up in the morning, looking in the mirror and not being ashamed of what looks back at you.

Our "fearless" forecast—Our Tigers have pride, So. . . The Vikings will crush the Shamrock. . . Mustangs will make the Redstreaks blue. . . Braves will be real Lion hunters. . . Steelers will smelter the Bengals. . . Browns to shut off the credit of the Chargers.

Until next time, have a nice day—be a good sport.

Jenkins, McCovey Are Traded

By FRED ROTHENBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ferguson Jenkins, who wasn't sure if he wanted to play anymore, and Willie McCovey, who was sure he wasn't playing enough, both suffered the same fate.

They were traded to last place clubs. Jenkins, a 20-game winner for six straight seasons with the Chicago Cubs before falling to 14-16 this year, was dealt Thursday to the Texas Rangers, the last-place team in the American League West, for Bill Madlock and Vic Harris.

McCovey, who has blasted 413 career homers for the San Francisco Giants, but was critical of Manager Charlie Fox for benching him in 1973, was traded to the San Diego Padres, the last place club in the National League West, for pitcher Mike Caldwell.

In addition, the Padres will receive minor league outfielder Bernie Williams.

Cougars Rip Utah Stars

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — If Carolina Coach Larry Brown had his way, he'd have his American Basketball Association team play on the road most of the season.

"It looks like we're a good road team all over this year," Brown said Thursday night after his Cougars walloped the Utah Stars, 115-104 in the night's only ABA contest. "We've yet to lose in five games away from home."

Brown hesitated, then added: "Yet, we've won only one out of two at home."

No games were scheduled in the National Basketball Association.

For the losing Stars—their third straight defeat—all wasn't lost. Zelmo Beaty, a holdout during the preseason and for several of the Stars' earlier ABA games, was welcomed back with rousing applause in making his home debut.

The veteran 6-foot-9 center sunk 15 points, picked off nine rebounds and blocked two Cougar shots.

McDowell Tops Falcons, 26-0

McDowell Junior High defeated Fairfield Union 26-0 Thursday in a Mid State League football game.

The McDowell gridders have a 3-1 record in the southern division and are 3-2 overall. Last night Amanda-Clearcreek clinched the southern division Mid State title.

If the little Braves can win at Lancaster Fisher next Thursday they will finish second in the Southern Division.

The Braves scored twice in each half Thursday. Jerry Scanlon accounted for two touchdowns, one on a pass interception he ran back 40 yards and the other on a pass from Tony Crist.

Dan Calton ran for two touchdowns, one from six yards out and the other on a 30-yard end sweep.

McDowell coach Doane Wiggins singled out Jeff Collins for his defensive play, Rock Huggins "for his best game this year," David Cain for his line play, Mark Seimer for his play at tackle in yesterday's action. Wiggins praised his quarterback. "Tony is one of the best junior high quarterbacks I have ever seen," the coach stated.

Elks Schedule Turkey Shoots

The Circleville BPO Elks Club is sponsoring a series of turkey shoots at Route 23 Gun Club on the Red Bridge-East Ringgold Road beginning 1 p.m. Sunday.

The second shoot is scheduled Nov. 11 and the third tentatively set Dec. 2.

There will be both card and trap events. Members of the Elks club are encouraged to bring guests. Guns and shells will be available at the gun club.

Woody Keeping Mum On Northwestern

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Woody Hayes claims his top-ranked Ohio State football offense hasn't gone conservative, but the 60-year-old dean of Big Ten coaches has.

Hayes, preparing his team for Northwestern's invasion Saturday, is wary his comments about the Wildcats will make bulletin board material.

"Anything I say will be used against me," the 23-year Ohio State veteran said. "It will just appear in their lockerroom."

Jockey Walter Blum has won the Seashore Handicap four times at Atlantic City, N.J.

CIRCLEVILLE HARRIERS — The Tiger cross country team will be running in the Central District meet Saturday at Raymond Memorial Golf Course. Members of the team, from the left, kneeling are: Doug Baker, Randy Zwayer, Ed Brown, Doug Radcliff, Jeff Carter, Dwight Plum, Steve Watters and Brent Patrick. Standing, Joe Burgess, manager, John Ater, Bill Bruno, Scott Simpson, Kirk Knecht, Doug Radabaugh, Robin Martin, Matt McGowan, Keith Stevenson and Frank Plescia. Watters and McGowan are co-captains of the squad.

Local Harriers Run In District Meet

Circleville and Teays Valley will be competing in the Central District cross country meet Saturday at Raymond Memorial golf course to determine qualifiers for the state competition Nov. 3 at Ohio State University golf course.

The Tigers will be running in section 2 of the Class AA division at 11 a.m. Section 1 of the Class AA division will run at 10:30 a.m. Teays Valley will compete in section 1.

Class AAA competition will get underway with section 1 running at 9:30 a.m. and section 2 at 10 a.m.

Notre Dame Gets Ready For USC

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP) — Just another game? Not quite.

"The coach says it's just the start of the second half of the season," Notre Dame captain Dave Casper says of Southern California's visit Saturday, "but everyone else tells you it's a big game. That's all you hear."

Everyone else is right. "It's the tightest ticket situation in years," says a Notre Dame spokesman. "Every other second someone calls up and offers to pay $50 for a ticket."

Notre Dame's psych job is in full swing. At Thursday's practice, running backs Don Knott and Greg Hill came out dressed in cardinal and gold Southern Cal uniforms bearing the numbers of Anthony Davis, who rocked Notre Dame for a record six touchdowns last year, and Lynn Swann, this year's big play man.

John McKay says it's a big game. The Southern Cal coach calls it "the biggest collegiate intersectional game of the year; it always is. It's a great game and we're emotionally charged."

And for the first time since 1966, which was the last time Notre Dame beat Southern Cal and won the national championship, there was a Thursday night pep rally.

Anderson Contract Extended

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds rewarded Manager George "Sparky" Anderson for a third National League division title in four years by extending his contract through the 1975 season.

"We feel he's the finest manager in baseball, and he proved it again this season...despite injuries to so many key players," said Bob Howsam, Reds' president.

Anderson, who turns 40 in January, just completed the first year of a two-year contract.

Contacted at his home in Thousand Oaks, Calif., Anderson said he was surprised to receive the new pact because "I was in the middle of a contract and so I wasn't even thinking about a new one."

"It's nice to know the front office is happy with what we've been doing and the way we do it," said Anderson, who joined the Reds four years ago.

He produced National League champions in 1970 and 1972.

Howsam also announced that the entire Reds' coaching staff has been rehired for next season. It keeps intact the original crew Anderson hired in 1970.

Tiger Frosh Blank Smith

The defense of the Circleville freshman team saved the day and a 6-0 season record as the little Tigers blanked Chillicothe Smith, 8-0, on the loser's gridiron.

After a scoreless first half the Tigers tallied on a one-yard sneak by Brian Fath who also carried over for a two-point conversion to account for all the scoring.

It was a tremendous defensive effort by the Tigers that kept Chillicothe in check throughout the game. Smith was never able to cross the 50-yard line in the contest.

Circleville coach Dale Harger had high praise for the defensive work of Tom McGuire, Randy Hapenny, Earl Stevenson, Art Davis, Mearle Logan, Bryan Price, Bill Mogan, Jerry Large, Bob Fuller, Brian Fath and Frank Merrill.

Circleville will host Unioto Tuesday.

LWBA Sets Schedule

The Lancaster Women's Bowling Association city tournament schedule board will be at the following bowling establishments: Tiki-Oct. 28 to Nov. 3; Prairie-Nov. 3 to Nov. 7; Circle D-Nov. 7 to Nov. 10; Lincoln-Nov. 10 to Nov. 17; B & H 20th Century-Nov. 17 to Nov. 21; Starlite-Nov. 21 to Nov. 24; and Mt. Pleasant-Nov. 24 to Dec. 1. Deadline for entries is midnight December 1.

Ohio College Grid Schedule Heavy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marietta's comeback Pioneers shoot for the undisputed Ohio Conference Blue Division lead Saturday at Ohio Wesleyan.

A victory over the Bishops (1-0 in the OC) would put Marietta at 3-0 in the division and one triumph away from a berth in the league championship game Nov. 17.

All four of Marietta's victories have been come-from-behind decisions and Coach Joe McDaniel said, "Our guys just don't give up. They hang in there. A lot of this can be attributed to our senior leadership."

Meanwhile, Wittenberg, seventh-ranked nationally in the college division, should protect its OC Red Division lead (2-0) at Mount Union (0-2).

It's a busy Saturday facing Ohio colleges, one on which top-ranked Ohio State and No. 16 Miami can tie for conference leads and Hiram can seize the President's Conference top spot.

Ohio State, tied for the Big Ten lead with No. 4 Michigan and Illinois, has Northwestern as its homecoming host. Miami, also unbeaten, awaits Toledo.

A Redskins' victory would jump Miami into a Mid-American Conference tie with Kent State at 3-0. Ohio University entertains Western Michigan in the other MAC game.

In contests involving the state's other majors, Kent State visits Utah State, Bowling Green is at Marshall, Cincinnati at Louisville and Dayton home for Drake. The last two games are at night.

Capital is at Baldwin-Wallace and Wooster at Heidelberg in the OC Red Division and Muskingum goes to Denison in the OC Blue Division.

John Carroll, 2-0-2 in the league, tries to remain in the President's Conference title picture at Bethany. Case Western Reserve awaits Carnegie-Mellon in another PC game.

Hanover bids for the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference lead with Bluffton. A victory at Earlham would give Hanover a 4-1 league mark, the same as the defending champion Beavers.

In other H-BC contests, Defiance (3-2) is at Anderson and Wilmington (2-2) home for Findlay (1-3).

Elsewhere, Otterbein is at Allegheny, Kenyon at Grove City (Pa.), Oberlin at Chicago, Akron at Southern Illinois, Ashland at Hillsdale, Youngstown at Eastern Michigan and Fort Valley State at Central State.

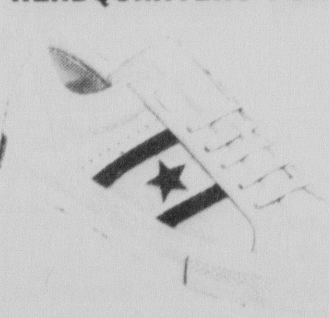

Ben Schwartzwalder is in his 25th and final season as Syracuse University football coach.

Meet The Vikings

Keith Pettibone 62 and Bill Breon 32 are junior members of the 1973 Teays Valley High School football team. Orrion Blanchard 85 has moved from the area and is no longer a member of the team. Keith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Pettibone, Cook Road. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Breon, Circleville-Lockbourne Road.

Ohio College Grid Schedule Heavy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Marietta's comeback Pioneers shoot for the undisputed Ohio Conference Blue Division lead Saturday at Ohio Wesleyan.

A victory over the Bishops (1-0 in the OC) would put Marietta at 3-0 in the division and one triumph away from a berth in the league championship game Nov. 17.

All four of Marietta's victories have been come-from-behind decisions and Coach Joe McDaniel said, "Our guys just don't give up. They hang in there. A lot of this can be attributed to our senior leadership."

Meanwhile, Wittenberg, seventh-ranked nationally in the college division, should protect its OC Red Division lead (2-0) at Mount Union (0-2).

It's a busy Saturday facing Ohio colleges, one on which top-ranked Ohio State and No. 16 Miami can tie for conference leads and Hiram can seize the President's Conference top spot.

Ohio State, tied for the Big Ten lead with No. 4 Michigan and Illinois, has Northwestern as its homecoming host. Miami, also unbeaten, awaits Toledo.

A Redskins' victory would jump Miami into a Mid-American Conference tie with Kent State at 3-0. Ohio University entertains Western Michigan in the other MAC game.

In contests involving the state's other majors, Kent State visits Utah State, Bowling Green is at Marshall, Cincinnati at Louisville and Dayton home for Drake. The last two games are at night.

Capital is at Baldwin-Wallace and Wooster at Heidelberg in the OC Red Division and Muskingum goes to Denison in the OC Blue Division.

John Carroll, 2-0-2 in the league, tries to remain in the President's Conference title picture at Bethany. Case Western Reserve awaits Carnegie-Mellon in another PC game.

Hanover bids for the Hoosier-Buckeye Conference lead with Bluffton. A victory at Earlham would give Hanover a 4-1 league mark, the same as the defending champion Beavers.

In other H-BC contests, Defiance (3-2) is at Anderson and Wilmington (2-2) home for Findlay (1-3).

Elsewhere, Otterbein is at Allegheny, Kenyon at Grove City (Pa.), Oberlin at Chicago, Akron at Southern Illinois, Ashland at Hillsdale, Youngstown at Eastern Michigan and Fort Valley State at Central State.

Ben Schwartzwalder is in his 25th and final season as Syracuse University football coach.

PLAY CAST — The members of the junior class play are shown with drama teacher and director of the play, Neal Handler. The cast will present "Ten Little Indians" by Agatha Christie on Nov. 16 and 17.

Class Play Slated For Nov. 16-17

By TAMMY MILLER
What do ten little Indians, a murderer, and eleven members of the junior class have in common? They are all a part of CHS's production of Agatha Christie's play "Ten Little Indians," to be presented Nov. 16 and 17.

"It's a murder-mystery that takes place in the living room of a house on an Indian island off the coast of Devon, England," commented Mr. Neal Handler, director. "The curious twist to the play is that every time one of the ten little Indian statues falls off the mantelpiece, someone is murdered."

The cast consists of Leigh Hritz as Vera Claythorne and Allen Dray as Philip Lombard. Jeff Spires plays Rogers; Kristi Rahe is Mrs. Rogers; and Evelyn Howard is Freida Narracott.

Cast as Anthony Marston is Mark McFadden; Steve Stocklen plays William Blore; and Dwight Frazer is General MacKenzie.

Emily Brent is played Audrey May; Jeff Swackhammer is Sir Lawrence Wargrave; and Dave Harman is cast as Dr. Armstrong.

"The cast of the Junior Class play is finally learning how to help each other with their lines," Mr. Handler said. "They should be ready by the 16th."

Work Begun By Officers

By CINDY SIMS
The senior class elected officers last spring. The 1974 graduating class chose Robin Martin as President. Mike Speakman will assist Robin as vice-president. Secretary is Margaret Merrill and treasurer, Donna Lucas.

Other offices are filled by Ann Yates, annual editor; John Myers, councilman-at-large; Jo Myers, parliamentarian; Amy Woods, graduation chairman; and Connie Forrest and Kym Timberlake, projects co-chairmen.

The officers for the year have already begun to work and make decisions. They voted on printing for the announcements a few weeks ago. The class as a whole has chosen announcements, class colors of green and ivory and a motto stating "Some men see things as they are and ask why; I dream things that never were and ask why not."

At this time dues of $1 are being collected from all seniors.

All of the officers work together, and Robin, as President of the class, commented, "I plan to have the best graduation possible."

Harriers Continue Winning

By RICK BUMGARNER
After an opening loss to Fairfield Union, the Circleville cross-country team has reeled off nine straight victories.

The latest victims of the "torrid Tigers" have been Southeastern 24-41, Logan 18-57, Westfall 18-47, and Teays Valley 15-54.

Matt McGowan has been the leader of the pack, capturing first place in eight of the meets that he has run to date. But the all-out hustle of regulars Doug Radabaugh, Steve Watters, Robin Martin, Bill Bruno, Kirk Knecht, and Keith Stevenson has contributed greatly to the Tiger cause.

On Oct. 13 Circleville competed in the Rio Grande Invitational, where the Tigers took first honors for the second row. McGowan padded the Tigers and captured third place. Other top finishers were Radabaugh, tenth; Watters, eleventh; Martin, eighteenth; and Stevenson, twenty-seventh. Overall, Circleville garnered 69 points, while their toughest competitor was Ridgewood, who captured 74 points.

Tomorrow the district cross-country meet will be held at Raymond Memorial Golf Course in Columbus. Circleville will compete with its top seven runners as once again Coach John Lawhorn and his troops try to gain state berths for Circleville's cross-country team.

Shoemaker Modest On Park Naming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88, Bournville, brushed aside a suggestion that Ohio's new Great Seal State Park be named for him for his long years of service to the Ross County area.

"They should name it for (former GOP Gov. James A.) Jim Rhodes. He came down there for some kind of ceremony and almost shoved me over a cliff," Shoemaker laughed.

He said Rhodes was travelling at the time (1966) with Roger Cloud, then a candidate for state auditor, and muscled Cloud out front at an overlook near the famed Mount Logan site, bumping Shoemaker in the process. "It was pretty steep going down," Shoemaker said.

He said the dignitaries had assembled for breakfast at dawn to view the sunrise that inspired the Great Seal. "We sat there and ate Jackson County cheese, and drank apple cider," said Shoemaker.

Rhodes is a native of Jackson County.

Gov. John J. Gilligan apparently has accepted the refusal of John Glenn Jr. to run for lieutenant governor, providing what some Democratic leaders said would be the best ticket possible in 1974.

Gilligan was publicly rebuffed by Glenn, who said the offer to share the ticket with the governor was an effort to keep him out of the race for U.S. Senate.

Tonight the Circleville Tigers play the Blue Lions of Washington C.H. at Tiger Stadium.

Coach Cook said that Washington C.H. has an extremely big and strong team with a lot of veteran players. They have twenty returning seniors; nine of them are playing for their third year on the varsity team.

Washington C.H.'s defense hasn't been scored against since their ninth game of last season.

The Tigers are looking for their third win in the league. They are now 2-2 in league play.

Coach Cook said, "To win this game our team will have to play a near perfect football game."

The same people who urged Glenn to run for lieutenant governor want the Senate contest left open for Cleveland millionaire Howard Metzenbaum, the former astronaut said.

At a news conference, Gilligan was asked whether state Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese—with whom Gilligan feuds—would be qualified for the job of lieutenant governor. "By law," the governor answered.

Gilligan, in an obvious reference to the Glenn turndown, said "I don't have a candidate in the field any more."

Rep. Sam Speck, R-95 New Concord, claims Gov. John J. Gilligan was fiscally irresponsible in asking the legislature this year to end farming operations at state mental and correctional institutions.

Speck cites testimony at a recent meeting of the state Controlling Board by Joseph Dembinski, assistant corrections director, who said the institutions saved from 35 to 40 per cent by raising their own beef cattle rather than purchasing beef at retail.

Although the administration at least temporarily has abandoned its plan and now is restocking institutional herds, Speck said Dembinski's testimony "substantiated that the governor's unilateral attempt to close down all state farms . . . had been fiscally irresponsible."

Aside from the economical aspects, Gilligan and Director Kenneth Gaver of the Department of Mental Health and Retardation contend inmates and patients doing farm work get no therapeutic value.

They also said training for farm work has little potential because most inmates and patients come from cities and are returned there.

The institutions are "for people, not pigs," Gaver asserted.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Help At Sex Clinic

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have been married for nearly 20 years. We have three well-adjusted children, a lovely home, and an excellent income. We love and respect each other, have a good social life, and just about everything one could ask for. What's our problem? Our sex lives. We have none.

My wife was a virgin when I married her, and I had very little experience for a 22-year-old college graduate. I know I never really satisfied her, but she never complained. I felt like a failure, so I just quit trying. I've never cheated on my wife and I never will. Occasionally one of us will initiate some foreplay because we are both very affectionate, but it always ends in humiliation for me. She says it's not important to her and I shouldn't worry about it, but I do. I know I'm cheating her. And I'm cheating myself, too, because I hear that some couples in their 60s enjoy sex. Don't suggest psychiatry. I've had two years of that and got nowhere. What do you say?

MISSING SOMETHING

DEAR MISSING: If you love each other and are properly motivated, there is hope. If you can afford to spend $2,500, and 10 days to two weeks in St. Louis at the Masters and Johnson Clinic, I recommend it. They are specialist in sexual dysfunction, and have done a remarkable job of rehabilitating couples after everything else (including psychiatry) has failed. Your visit there will be strictly confidential.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old divorcee with a four-year-old daughter. People tell me I'm very attractive and have a good personality. I'm a receptionist, meet many men and get invited out often.

Larry is 46; he was married when he was 17, but it was annulled. He married again at 21; that lasted a year. Later he married a divorcee and they stayed married for 15 years. He doesn't look his age and I find him very exciting. We date four or five nights a week. He loves sports, and we see all the baseball, football, hockey, and basketball games. We have a great time together, and I keep thinking how marvelous it would be to be married to him.

That's the problem. Larry says marriage is a kiss of death to romance. Is he right? Am I a hopeless romantic? He's getting all the privileges of marriage with none of the responsibilities. I know he cares for me, but how can I get him to marry me? Is an ultimatum the answer?

WANTS MARRIAGE
DEAR WANTS: Don't give him an ultimatum unless you're prepared to lose him. At least he's honest and isn't leading you on. If it's marriage you want, look for a man who's marriageable. Larry isn't.

DEAR ABBY: I know you have stated a dozen times that it is improper to write "no gifts, please" on invitations, but something must be done about showering expensive gifts to older people who neither want nor need them.

I am soon to celebrate my 50th wedding anniversary, and I do not want a truckload of "things" for which I have no use for.

There are so many lovely friends and relatives who go overboard, spending their hard-earned money for these useless gifts.

We want to entertain our friends, but we absolutely do not want them to bring or send us any presents. Isn't there some way we can let our wishes be known without being ill-mannered?

NO GIFTS, PLEASE
DEAR NO GIFTS: Requesting "no gifts" on an invitation is suggesting that gifts are expected. A close friend or relative can spread the word that a contribution to some worthy cause in honor of your "50th" would be your preference.

Harriers Continue Winning

By RICK BUMGARDNER

After an opening loss to Fairfield Union, the Circleville cross-country team has reeled off nine straight victories.

The latest victims of the "torrid Tigers" have been Southeastern 24-41, Logan 18-57, Westfall 18-47, and Teays Valley 15-54.

Matt McGowan has been the leader of the pack, capturing first place in eight of the meets that he has run to date. But the all-out hustle of regulars Doug Radabaugh, Steve Watters, Robin Martin, Bill Bruno, Kirk Knecht, and Keith Stevenson has contributed greatly to the Tiger cause.

On Oct. 13 Circleville competed in the Rio Grande Invitational, where the Tigers took first honors for the second row. McGowan padded the Tigers and captured third place. Other top finishers were Radabaugh, tenth; Watters, eleventh; Martin, eighteenth; and Stevenson, twenty-seventh. Overall, Circleville garnered 69 points, while their toughest competitor was Ridgewood, who captured 74 points.

Tomorrow the district cross-country meet will be held at Raymond Memorial Golf Course in Columbus. Circleville will compete with its top seven runners as once again Coach John Lawhorn and his troops try to gain state berths for Circleville's cross-country team.

Shoemaker Modest On Park Naming

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88, Bourneville, brushed aside a suggestion that Ohio's new Great Seal State Park be named for him for his long years of service to the Ross County area.

"They should name it for (former GOP Gov. James A.) Jim Rhodes. He came down there for some kind of ceremony and almost shoved me over a cliff," Shoemaker laughed.

He said Rhodes was travelling at the time (1966) with Roger Cloud, then a candidate for state auditor, and muscled Cloud out front at an overlook near the famed Mount Logan site, bumping Shoemaker in the process.

"It was pretty steep going down," Shoemaker said.

He said the dignitaries had assembled for breakfast at dawn to view the sunrise that inspired the Great Seal. "We sat there and ate Jackson County cheese, and drank apple cider," said Shoemaker.

Rhodes is a native of Jackson County.

Gov. John J. Gilligan apparently has accepted the refusal of John Glenn Jr. to run for lieutenant governor, providing what some Democratic leaders said would be the best ticket possible in 1974.

Gilligan was publicly rebuffed by Glenn, who said the offer to share the ticket with the governor was an effort to keep him out of the race for U.S. Senate.

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, PHONE 986-3481

My sincere thanks and appreciation to the many folks who reminded me that two more of the Miss and Little Miss Pumpkin Show winners have Williamsport "connections". Such interest is what makes doing this column so rewarding.

Miss Pumpkin Show, the lovely Kimberly Timberlake, is a great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Van Camp who maintained a gracious country home on Route 22 immediately west of our town for many years. Kym's father, J. C. (Tim) Timberlake made his home with his grandparents and is a 1953 graduate of Williamsport High School.

Kym's mother, the former Marilyn Radcliff, is the daughter of Mrs. Carl Radcliff and the late Mr. Radcliff. Mrs. R. is the former Bessie Arledge and a native of our area.

Little Miss first attendant Terressa Williams is a granddaughter of Ernie and Ruth Minor. She is the daughter of Lowell and Thelma Minor Williams. Thelma is a graduate of Westfall High School—one of the first graduating classes. So, you see, we can really "pop our buttons."

Mrs. Una Higman has returned to home sweet home after being the house guest of her daughter Marilyn Armentrout, Mr. Jack and their Becky, Peggy and Johnny of Fremont for several days. The Armentrouts accompanied her home and visited here over the weekend.

Saturday visitors of Mrs. Inez Lingo were her daughter, Mrs. Fern Mellinger of Wooster, granddaughter June (Mrs. Calvin) Hites and her two, Tonya and Stacey, of Kettering. Coming over from Circleville to join the family group for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lingo.

That perpetual twinkle in Arthur Frazier's eyes is even brighter this week because of his happiness in having sons and daughters fill the home with their presence. Daughter Margaret and hubby Robert Hargis of Panama City, Fla. came Monday.

Daughter Helen and Hubby Ray Shoemaker of Angola, Ind. drove in Wednesday as did son Ray Frazier of Angola. Also joining the family circle on Wednesday were daughters Mrs. Mildred Jording of Dayton and Ruth Merriman and her Bill of Marion. Another son, Edwin, helps dad entertain.

Along with David Michael and Cindy McClure of Londonderry who arrived at our home on Friday to enjoy the Pumpkin Show, we were delighted to have Aunt Gladys Davis, cousins Bud and Bernadine Barker and Bryan of Columbus, Ind. come in on Saturday. They all returned home Sunday. While here the Indiana relatives spent time with my mama, Mrs. Earl Hardman of Chillicothe, and Aunt Goldie Rittinger of near Yellowbud. After eating Sunday dinner at the Valley House buffet in Chillicothe the whole kit and caboodle took in the Festival of Leaves at Bainbridge.

Also appearing at the Leaves Festival were Marabel Drummond and her three pretties, Connie, Sandee and Joy Lynn and Mrs. Lloyd Drummond, Don and Ruth Schleich, daughter Laura and their grandchildren Toni Sue and C. K. McFarland, T-Bird Graffis, Pete and Pearl Cochenour, Wayne Wright, Janet Schleich, Pam Williams (and friend) and probably many more of which I am unaware. Main attraction for villagers was the appearance in the parade of our Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival Queen Cindy Schleich.

The virus bug has started making the rounds already and victims thus far are Big John Boy Graffis, Becki Easterday, Veronica Carter, John The Monster Graffis and Marilyn Lemaster.

The sawing, hammering, plastering and all other frustrations attendant to remodeling a house continues at our residence. I am beginning to feel like an authority on how to live out of boxes. We call our present decor "early mess."

Itchy feet, wanderlust, thirst for adventure, see the country, call it by what term turns you on but the trend for our young people now seems to be to travel a while after high school graduation and two local young men, Scott Skinner, son of John and Mildred Skinner, and his cousin Val Skinner, son of George and Ruth Skinner followed the trend.

They are recently returned from a lengthy tour of the western states that took them to the Pacific Ocean in California and all the other wide-eyed wonders to behold west of the Rockies. The boys spent some time with a Pensyl family in Arizona—the Pensyls are formerly of Washington C.H.

Scott, a 1973 graduate of Westfall and Val, a 1973 graduate of Adena, purchased a VW van and outfitted it with all the comforts of "home". The question now is, "Can you keep them down on the farm after they have once seen big C?"

Reminders

Trick or Treat night for UNICEF will be Sunday beginning at 5 p.m. Children with containers will be canvassing the village as in past years. Besides collecting money for UNICEF the United Methodist Church is participating in the Treat of Life of UNICEF which entails saving certain labels from products used almost daily by each household.

Please save Kool-Aid packages, Royal Dessert boxes, the label from Welch's jam, jelly and preserves, front panel from Chocks, Chocks Bugs Bunny or Flintstone vitamins, Blue Bonnet Sue picture from margarine package, pack wrappers from Dentyne or Trident. Call Mary Lee (Mrs. H. H.) Stevens for further information.

Collection boxes for the product packages are at the U.M. Church, the Williamsport Post Office or can be given to the children collecting Sunday evening. Help needy children throughout the world!

Trick or treat will be observed in our town on Tuesday, 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. American Legion annual Mummies Parade at Pavilion on Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

A message from Sweetpea Ruth Shippey of Macon, Ga. assures us that Grandma Phoebe Smiley enjoys walking in the yard although her health is failing.

Ron Bush is on the recuperating road at Berger Hospital where he underwent surgery last Friday morning. May good health soon be his to enjoy.

Think About: It takes 60 muscles to frown and only 13 to smile. Why waste energy?

In the United States, 80 per cent of the electricity depends on fossil fuels — natural gas, oil and coal.

Turkey farmers use a great assortment of antibiotics and vitamins to keep their delicate charges in good health.

Water Resources Problems Noted

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A national petroleum company executive told the Ohio Valley Improvement Association (OVIA) Thursday that political pressures "have put budgetary shackles" on water resources development.

Orin Atkins, board chairman and chief executive officer of Ashland Oil, told the 78th meeting of the OVIA that "water resources have fallen to the lowest priority among our major national programs."

Ohio Governor John Gilligan joined Atkins in opposing a National Water Commission proposal, which the governor said meant the federal government would abandon its financial responsibility and shift it to states and local areas.

LOSE 20 POUNDS IN TWO WEEKS!

Famous U.S. Women Ski Team Diet

During the non-snow off season the U.S. Women's Alpine Ski Team members go on the "Ski Team" diet to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. That's right — 20 pounds in 14 days! The basis of the diet is chemical food action and was devised by a famous Colorado physician especially for the U.S. Ski Team. Normal energy is maintained (very important!) while reducing. You keep "full" — no starvation — because the diet is designed that way. It's a diet that is easy to follow whether you work, travel or stay at home. (Not the grapefruit diet!)

This is, honestly, a fantastically successful diet. If it weren't, the U.S. Women's Ski Team wouldn't be permitted to use it! Right? So, give yourself the same break the U.S. Ski Team gets. Lose weight the scientific, proven way. Even if you've tried all the other diets, you owe it to yourself to try the U.S. Women's Ski Team Diet. That is, if you really do want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks. Order today. Tear this out as a reminder.

Send only $3.00 ($3.25 for Rush Service) - cash is O.K. - to: NATIONAL HEALTH INSTITUTE, P.O. Box 39, Dept. 16, Durham, Calif. 95938. Don't order unless you want to lose 20 pounds in two weeks! Because that's what the Ski Team Diet will do. c 1972

Williamsport News

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, PHONE 986-3481

My sincere thanks and appreciation to the many folks who reminded me that two more of the Miss and Little Miss Pumpkin Show winners have Williamsport "connections". Such interest is what makes doing this column so rewarding.

Miss Pumpkin Show, the lovely Kymberly Timberlake, is a great-granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Van Camp who maintained a gracious country home on Route 22 immediately west of our town for many years. Kym's father, J. C. (Tim) Timberlake made his home with his grandparents and is a 1953 graduate of Williamsport High School.

Kym's mother, the former Marilyn Radcliff, is the daughter of Mrs. Carl Radcliff and the late Mr. Radcliff. Mrs. R. is the former Bessie Arledge and a native of our area.

Little Miss first attendant Teressa Williams is a granddaughter of Ernie and Ruth Minor. She is the daughter of Lowell and Thelma Minor Williams. Thelma is a graduate of Westfall High School—one of the first graduating classes. So, you see, we can really "pop our buttons."

Mrs. Una Higman has returned to home sweet home after being the house guest of her daughter Marilyn Armentrout, Mr. Jack and their Becky, Peggy and Johnny of Fremont for several days. The Armentrouts accompanied her home and visited here over the weekend.

Saturday visitors of Mrs. Inez Lingo were her daughter, Mrs. Fern Mellinger of Wooster, granddaughter June (Mrs. Calvin) Hites and her two, Tonya and Stacey, of Kettering. Coming over from Circleville to join the family group for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Lingo.

That perpetual twinkle in Arthur Frazier's eyes is even brighter this week because of his happiness in having sons and daughters fill the home with their presence. Daughter Margaret and hubby Robert Hargis of Panama City, Fla. came Monday.

Daughter Helen and Hubby Ray Shoemaker of Angola, Ind. drove in Wednesday as did son Ray Frazier of Angola. Also joining the family circle on Wednesday were daughters Mrs. Mildred Jording of Dayton and Ruth Merriman and her Bill of Marion. Another son, Edwin, helps dad entertain.

Along with David Michael and Cindy McClure of Londonderry who arrived at our home on Friday to enjoy the Pumpkin Show, we were delighted to have Aunt Gladys Davis, cousins Bud and Bernadine Barker and Bryan of Columbus, Ind. come in on Saturday.

They all returned home Sunday. While here the Indiana relatives spent time with my mama, Mrs. Earl Hardman of Chillicothe, and Aunt Goldie Rittinger of near Yellowbud. After eating Sunday dinner at the Valley House buffet in Chillicothe the whole kit and caboodle took in the Festival of Leaves at Bainbridge.

Also appearing at the Leaves Festival were Marabel Drummond and her three pretties, Connie, Sandee and Joy Lynn and Mrs. Lloyd Drummond, Don and Ruth Schleich, daughter Laura and their grandchildren Toni Sue and C. K. McFarland, T-Bird Graffis, Pete and Pearl Cochenour, Wayne Wright, Janet Schleich, Pam Williams (and friend) and probably many more of which I am unaware. Main attraction for villagers was the appearance in the parade of our Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival Queen Cindy Schleich.

The virus bug has started making the rounds already and victims thus far are Big John Boy Graffis, Becki Easterday, Veronica Carter, John The Monster Graffis and Marilyn Lemaster.

The sawing, hammering, plastering and all other frustrations attendant to remodeling a house continues at our residence. I am beginning to feel like an authority on how to live out of boxes. We call our present decor "early mess."

Itchy feet, wanderlust, thirst for adventure, see the country, call it by what term turns you on but the trend for our young people now seems to be to travel a while after high school graduation and two local young men, Scott Skinner, son of John and Mildred Skinner, and his cousin Val Skinner, son of George and Ruth Skinner followed the trend.

They are recently returned from a lengthy tour of the western states that took them to the Pacific Ocean in California and all the other wide-eyed wonders to behold west of the Rockies. The boys spent some time with a Pensyl family in Arizona—the Pensyls are formerly of Washington C.H.

Scott, a 1973 graduate of Westfall and Val, a 1973 graduate of Adena, purchased a VW van and outfitted it with all the comforts of "home". The question now is, "Can you keep them down on the farm after they have once seen big C?"

Reminders

Trick or Treat night for UNICEF will be Sunday beginning at 5 p.m. Children with containers will be canvassing the village as in past years. Besides collecting money for UNICEF the United Methodist Church is participating in the Treat of Life of UNICEF which entails saving certain labels from products used almost daily by each household.

Please save Kool-Aid packages, Royal Dessert boxes, the label from Welch's jam, jelly and preserves, front panel from Chocks, Chocks Bugs Bunny or Flintstone vitamins, Blue Bonnet Sue picture from margarine package, pack wrappers from Dentyne or Trident. Call Mary Lee (Mrs. H. H.) Stevens for further information.

Collection boxes for the product packages are at the U.M. Church, the Williamsport Post Office or can be given to the children collecting Sunday evening. Help needy children throughout the world!

Trick or treat will be observed in our town on Tuesday, 6 p.m. until 8:30 p.m. American Legion annual Mummies Parade at Pavilion on Wednesday, 7:30 p.m.

Newsprint Price Hike

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian International Paper Co., one of Canada's largest newsprint producers, has announced a sharp price increase. It said U.S. newspapers will feel the effect Nov. 1.

The company announced Wednesday it was boosting the price of newsprint 14 per cent and said the price to U.S. customers would go up by $25 per ton to $200.

A number of other Canadian producers previously announced a $15-a-ton price increase effective Jan. 1 and a $10-a-ton hike to take effect next July 1.

"We can't absorb that without additional sources of revenue," said O.B. Schoepfle, chairman of the board of the Elyria (Ohio) Chronicle-Telegram. He predicted the price boost would cost the paper $1235,000 more per year.

Other newspapers indicated raising advertising rates would be one way for them to offset the higher newsprint costs.

William Davis Taylor, publisher of the Boston Globe, said the paper was considering boosting ad rates "in every category" to keep pace with the increased costs.

U.S. customers paid about $165 per ton for newsprint at the start of the year. Two $5-a-ton price hikes brought the price to $175-a-ton during the summer.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A growing number of the nation's industrial and financial giants are finding the demands and temptations of the 1970s too much to handle. Their weaknesses are producing red ink, failure and scandals.

The problems seem of late to be concentrated among some of the second tier financial institutions, but it isn't difficult to find examples in transportation, aerospace, food retailing and other industries.

The Penn Central railroad, the nation's largest, is involved in bankruptcy proceedings. Lockheed Aircraft avoided bankruptcy by obtaining a government guarantee for $250 million in loans, and other companies, suffering losses, have sought additional payments from government.

To a far less degree, many other companies have failed in some areas to adequately respond to the changing 70s despite sometimes desperate efforts to do so, and have been forced to absorb huge losses.

RCA Corp. in 1971 was forced to write off $250 million as "extraordinary charges related to withdrawal from the general purpose computer business," after declaring shortly before that it would be an industry leader.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. is fighting desperately with Safeway Stores to maintain its decades-old position as the nation's largest food retailer. In the red for many months, it lost more than $50 million in its most recent complete fiscal year.

Pan American World Air Ways has been in the red since 1969, and some other airlines, despite a facade of glamor and almost constant promotion of cut-rate trips, haven't established themselves as consistent money makers.

These problems may exist as notable exceptions to the trend, which finds corporations in general experiencing record-high profits. In the past year these profits have risen 34 per cent, compared with an 11 per cent rise in national output.

While some of the troubles result from industrywide problems, as in food retailing, securities and air transportation — most of them are confined to individual companies within the industries.

Nevertheless, some critics feel the instances are more than symbolic, and that if studied more closely might reveal a common weakness in management, and in some instances irresponsibility and even fraud.

This seems especially true in regard to some of the securities and financial institution failures. In the biggest among securities firms, the failure of Weis Securities, Inc., the New York Stock Exchange accused the company of filing false and misleading reports.

The Securities Investor Protection
Corp., which is charged by government and industry with protecting investors from losses in such failures, recently had 87 liquidations on its books. Reasons for failure in 65 cases involved:

Poor books and records, recorded 44 times; misconduct 26 times; high operating costs — poor controls 21; mismanagement 28; lack of knowledge of securities business 18; adverse market conditions 10; speculation 29.

Not just a few but many, many critics of Wall Street maintain that the very factors cited by the Protection Corp. are more widespread than the public realizes.

The chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission, Ray D.
Garrett Jr., told brokers in a speech this week: "We have been experiencing a truly frightening degree of fraud and callous disregard for fiduciary duty in our securities markets and in our corporate life."

Besides Wall Street, Garrett apparently referred to the Equity Funding scandal, in which scores of millions of dollars in assets were fraudulent — mere bookkeeping entries that made the company look highly successful up to this year.

And more recently, bank investors are still trying to determine what happened at the U.S. National Bank of San Diego, which collapsed last week in the biggest bank insolvency in American history. It had $940 million in deposits.

One thing that especially interests the investigators is close to $300 million in loans to interests involving its chief stockholder, C. Arnholt Smith.

Ohio Against River Tax Proposal

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Ohio will continue to oppose proposals to tax transportation operators on the Ohio River, Gov. John J. Gilligan said today.

Gilligan told a meeting of the Ohio
River Valley Improvement
Association that Ohio had fought a plan to charge fees for the use of the river by various forms of transportation.

"Our position is that as long as the federal government is continuing to subsidize both air and rail transportation, either directly or through special financial considerations, river transportation should not be given an additional burden to bear," Gilligan said.

The governor also restated the state's opposition to a proposal by the National Water Commission that the cost of inland waterway development be transferred from the federal government to state and local governments.

"It is totally unreasonable to think that the states and cities of this region can take over the enormous cost of river development without the federal government providing the needed funds," he said.

"We will continue to oppose this proposal until the federal government is ready to consider some serious methods of providing state and local governments with new revenues, preferable through some form of tax credits," Gilligan said.

The ORVIA includes representatives of those states which border on the Ohio River Valley.

Brown Says Environment May Take Back Seat To Energy

EATON, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Rep.
Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, said
Thursday it may be necessary to relax environmental safeguards to combat the fuel crisis.

"It will be necessary for all of us to conserve and equitably distribute short oil supplies for the present,"
Brown told a meeting of the Southwest
Ohio Technical Symposium on Energy and the Environment.

"There probably also will be the necessity in the short run to relax environmental restrictions to make use of other energy resources," he added.

Brown said the U. S. must develop new domestic supplies of oil and natural gas in the immediate future.
But he said in the long run, the nation will have to research new energy sources, which are most efficient and less environmentally degrading.

In his address, Brown also said recently adopted Arab oil policies, which will cut into U. S. imports, are another good reason for broad federal fuel allocation authority.

Brown was referring to mandatory fuel allocation legislation which he successfully helped shepherd through both houses of Congress.

The Congressional measure would require the President to develop an allocation program for all oil products from crude oil to gasoline.

The administration's bill deals only with middle distillate fuels such as heating oil and jet fuel.

Brown said the all-inclusive nature of the Congressional proposal would increase Presidential flexibility by giving the President authority to cut across complex lines of oil production to ensure that overproduction of one product would not lead to shortages in others.

The governor also restated the state's opposition to a proposal by the National Water Commission that the cost of inland waterway development be transferred from the federal government to state and local governments.

"It is totally unreasonable to think that the states and cities of this region can take over the enormous cost of river development without the federal government providing the needed funds," he said.

"We will continue to oppose this proposal until the federal government is ready to consider some serious methods of providing state and local governments with new revenues, preferable through some form of tax credits," Gilligan said.

Brown Says Environment May Take Back Seat To Energy

EATON, Ohio (AP) — U. S. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, said Thursday it may be necessary to relax environmental safeguards to combat the fuel crisis.

"It will be necessary for all of us to conserve and equitably distribute short oil supplies for the present," Brown told a meeting of the Southwest Ohio Technical Symposium on Energy and the Environment.

"There probably also will be the necessity in the short run to relax environmental restrictions to make use of other energy resources," he added.

Brown said the U. S. must develop new domestic supplies of oil and natural gas in the immediate future. But he said in the long run, the nation will have to research new energy sources, which are most efficient and less environmentally degrading.

In his address, Brown also said recently adopted Arab oil policies, which will cut into U. S. imports, are another good reason for broad federal fuel allocation authority.

Brown was referring to mandatory fuel allocation legislation which he successfully helped shepherd through both houses of Congress.

The Congressional measure would require the President to develop an allocation program for all oil products from crude oil to gasoline.

The administration's bill deals only with middle distillate fuels such as heating oil and jet fuel.

Brown said the all-inclusive nature of the Congressional proposal would increase Presidential flexibility by giving the President authority to cut across complex lines of oil production to ensure that overproduction of one product would not lead to shortages in others.
